BRITISH STEAMER SUNK; NO WARNING, U. S. CONSUL SAYS

Lloyds Report That Another Steamer, Off Crook Haven, Ireland, Signaled That She Had Taken on the Vessel's Crew.

Marina, of 5204 Tons, Took on 50 Americans as Horsemen at Newport News; 34 of Crew of 104 Known to Have Been Picked Up.

Dispatches to Washington Say Marina Was Sunk by Gunfire; Consul Says His Information Is Provisional.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The American embassy today received a report from Wesley Frost, American Consul at Queenstown, that the British steamship Marina had been torpedoed without warning.

It is believed a number of Americans were on board.

Only 34 members of the crew of 104 are known here to have been picked up and landed at Crook-Haven, Ireland.

In reply to an inquiry from the American embassy, the Admiralty said today that there were 41 Americans in the crew of the Marina.

A private telegram received at the American consulate this afternoon from Crook-Haven says a number of Americans were drowned when the Marina was sunk.

Frost is procuring affidavits from survivors.

Lloyds reports that a steamer, anchored off Crook Haven, Ireland, signals that she has picked up the shipwrecked crew of the steamship Marina of Glasgow.

A report on the sinking on Oct. 26 of the British steamship Rowanmore also was made to the American embassy today by Frost, who states that the vessel was torpedoed.

Seven Americans, including five Filipinos, were on board the Rowanmore. Several of them have given Frost affidavits stating that a submarine shelled lifeboats while they were being lowered and after they were clear of the ship, without causing loss of life.

The Marina, which has been engaged in transatlantic service, was a vessel of 5204 tons gross, built in 1900. She was last reported as having arrived at Glasgow on Oct. 10, after having sailed from Newport News on Sept. 21.

REPORT SAYS GUNS SANK THE MARINA

Consul Frost Specifies Information He Transmitted Is "Provisional."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Dispatches to the State Department say the Marina, when sunk, had a mixed crew of British and Americans and that she was sunk by gunfire without warning.

Consul Frost at Queenstown specified that the information he transmitted was "provisional."

Investigation will be made at once to determine the status of the Marina and the nature of the attack to determine whether any of Germany's pledges to the United States have been violated.

The following is a summary of Consul Frost's dispatch:

The British horse transport Marina, with a mixed crew of British and Americans, was reported sunk without warning by German submarine gunfire at 3 p. m. (Oct. 26), 100 miles west, off Cape Clear, in an official report at the State Department today from Consul Frost at Queenstown. Thirty-four of the crew of 104 have been landed at Crook-haven, while 70 others, presumably those in boats 1 and 2, are missing.

Consul Frost says his information so far is purely provisional.

Survivors of the British freighter Rowanmore, sunk by a submarine after nearly an hour's chase, were sheltered after they had taken to their boats, according to another official dispatch from Consul Frost.

No casualties were reported.

The freighter was bound from Baltimore to Liverpool with a mixed cargo and was attacked by the submarine on the 24th, 140 miles southeast of Cape Clear, and after 50 minutes' attempt to escape, her steering gear was shot away. Thereupon she stopped, the report says, and signaled that she was abandoning ship.

The submarine shelled the boats after they had cleared the ship. The vessel was torpedoed at 11:30, sinking at 2:40.

Seven Americans were on board, including five Filipinos and two native Americans, George Murphy of Brooklyn and Albert Sessler of Boston.

If it turns out that the Marina was in fact in the transport service of the British Government it may be found that the mixed crew of British and American horse tenders could claim some of the immunity against attack without warning that attaches to a merchant ship.

MRS. WILSON PLANTS TULIPS TO BLOOM AFTER MARCH 4

She Exhibits in White House Garden Her Faith That Husband Will Be Elected.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Democratic tourists who watched gardeners place plum tulips in the White House garden yesterday declared it showed Mrs. Wilson's faith in her husband's re-election.

While the tulips are in bloom, the gardeners said they considered Mrs. Wilson generous to beautify the garden for Mrs. Hughes.

Whether Mrs. Wilson is having the tulips set in the garden for herself or for Mrs. Hughes will be decided by the November election. The tulips are for spring blossoming, and unless the 1917 spring is early the tulips will not bloom until after the inauguration on March 4.

Immigrants said to send $50,000,000 home monthly

Student of Situation Declares Total Forwarded to Europe by Them During War Is $1,200,000,000.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Savings of immigrants to the amount of $50,000,000 a month have been sent from the United States to Europe ever since the European war began, Lajos Steiner, a student of the immigration question, says.

He declares "this had been done under the constant urging of the omnipresent private banker whose greatest profits lie in foreign exchange."

The total savings exported since the war began, Steiner says, is more than $1,200,000,000.

More than 1,300,000 steeple tickets have been sold in various parts of the United States good for the "first available passage" on the conclusion of peace, according to Steiner.

EFFORTS TO GAIN PARDON FOR YOUNG BANK CLERK FAIL

Henry Ford and Senators Reed and Stone Were Interested in Case of W. C. Gannon.

BEGINS 5-YEAR TERM

O. H. Beal, Stranger to Him, Tries to Aid Youth Who Confessed to Embezzlement.

William C. Gannon, 22 years old, of 3722A South Compton avenue, a former clerk in the Merchants-Laclede National Bank, today began serving a five-year sentence for the embezzlement of $10 from the bank, for which he was arrested in September of last year. Extraordinary efforts to gain a pardon for him failed.

Sentence was passed on young Gannon last June by Judge Dyer in the United States District Court, after the youth had pleaded guilty to the embezzlement charge. His commitment under the sentence was withheld four times by the judge to await the result of his friends' efforts in his behalf.

Many influential persons aided the youth to obtain a pardon, and these included Henry Ford of Detroit, Secretary of War Baker, Federal Judge Batts of Austin, Tex.; United States Senators Reed and Stone, Congressman Loe of St. Louis, and others.

O. H. Beal, president of the painting firm of Beal & McNamara, was the prime mover in the effort to save Gannon. Beal, a stranger to the embezzler, was interested in the case by fellow employees of Gannon in the Merchants-Laclede Bank, where he was a depositor, as was also J. Lionberger Davis.

Through W. C. Anderson, general manager of the local plant of the Ford Motor Co., Beal obtained a position for Gannon. His pay was 32 cents an hour during the usual six months probation period, after which employees are raised to 45 a day or discharged. Gannon got his raise and later was promoted to assistant purchasing agent.

Gave Note for Shortage. Beal gave the bonding company which had paid the shortage his note for the amount. Gannon had been working eight months and had repaid $100 to the bonding company from his salary. The Department of Justice in refusing a pardon said it was a rule to require those convicted of embezzlement to serve their sentences unless there was reasonable doubt of their guilt or they were physically disabled.

Gannon lost the money gambling. He is the son of Mrs. Robert Hunzler of the Compton avenue address.

46 WOMEN IN U. S. RUNNING FOR STATE OFFICE, 2 FOR CONGRESS

24 Are on Socialist Tickets and One of These Wants to Be a Governor.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Official lists of candidates of recognized parties, congressional and state elections, coincident with the presidential voting on Nov. 7, show that there will be at least 20 women running for Congress and 46 in the contests for state offices, ranging from Governor down.

In Montana Jeannette Hawkins is the Republican nominee for Congress, and in Colorado Hattie K. Howard is running on a Progressive ticket. Of the 46 women seeking state offices 24 are nominees of the Socialist party. Idaho is the only State in the United States where a woman is candidate for Governor, Annie E. Tripp being the Socialist nominee there.

Women are seeking state offices in 13 other states, namely, Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Utah, Washington, Illinois and Kansas.

BELLBOYS GOT NO TIPS FROM GARY AND SCHWAB

Expectant Lads at Planters Disappointed in Steel Magnates Who Stopped There.

"The tumult and the shouting dies," the Captains and the Kings depart. And never a soul did the planters' hotel bellboys receive from Elbert H. Gary and Charles M. Schwab as a tip while those steel magnates were domiciled there last week during the sessions of the American Iron and Steel Institute.

While the blue-clad lads receive pay from the hotel, they are seldom averse to accepting gifts from the guest within the inn whose spirit and purse are moved by efficient service.

There was rivalry among them at first to serve those kings of finance—but soon they discovered that they were waiting upon Mrs. Gary's maid and Schwab's valet, not the originals! Every letter, every message, every note, was received by the servants within, and when the institute ended there was no parting gift distributed.

ORA LEWIS TRIAL PUT OFF UNTIL AFTER THE ELECTION

Judge Grimm Says He Does Not Want to Deprive Jurors of Their Right to Vote.

So that 12 jurors might not be deprived of their right to vote at next Tuesday's presidential election, Circuit Judge Grimm today continued the murder trial of Ora Otis Lewis, one of the three Lewis brothers accused of killing Motor Cycle Policeman John McKenna and Patrolman William Dillon, April 7 last.

The trial was to have started today, but is now postponed until Friday of next week.

Judge Grimm pointed out that the law requires that jurors in a first-degree murder case shall be kept together and in the custody of the Sheriff until a verdict is rendered. He said it was likely that the Lewis trial would last until after election day.

"I would be unwilling to deprive 12 citizens of their right of suffrage," said the judge. "At the same time, in a case like this, I would not care to take the responsibility of permitting them to separate and go to 12 different polling places to vote."

Roy Joe Lewis' case also was set for election day, but it is expected a severance will be granted. Ora and Roy were not in court.

CITY WILL NOT GET REPORTS ON REMOVAL OF HOUSEHOLD GOODS

It Is Permanently Enjoined by Judge Arnold From Removing Them From Owners.

Circuit Judge Arnold today granted a permanent injunction against the enforcement by the city of an ordinance requiring owners of all moving vans to file with the City Register the names of all persons moved, the place from which they move, and a general description of the property.

Moving men and others, however, are not to be traced "deadbeats" and mortgaged property.

Judge Arnold said that while the ordinance did not conflict with the State Constitution, it was a matter for State legislation, and not within the city's legislative powers, as it attempts to regulate civil rights and is not a police regulation.

The ordinance was passed last November, at the request of the Real Estate Exchange, supported by organizations of retailers. Moving men instituted the injunction suit in January.

OKLAHOMAN BETS $10,000 IN ST. LOUIS ON WILSON

Wager Made at Even Money—Will Said to Have Taken Part in Fight.

A wager of $10,000 at even money on Hughes and Wilson was made Saturday in Caesar's Cafe, 414 Pine street, George D. Key, an attorney and oil producer of Oklahoma City, taking the Wilson end, and a group of St. Louisans the Hughes end.

Key said this morning to a reporter at the Flamingo Hotel that $200 of the Hughes money was wagered by William Grafman, president of the Grafman Dairy Co., and $1000 by Bernard P. Boggy. He said he could not remember the names of the others in the Hughes pool.

Key said he was willing to wager an additional $50,000 on Wilson. He said he had made several small bets in St. Louis in addition to the $10,000. He told a Post-Dispatch reporter that in addition to oil interests he was the owner of the San Jose gold mine at Nacozari, Mexico.

BERLIN ANNOUNCES DEATH OF BOELKE IN AIR COLLISION

Champion Aviator Injured in Aerial Combat Oct. 28 and Dies of Wounds.

HAD WON FORTY FIGHTS

Hindenburg and Ludendorff Send Condolences—Flyer Admired by Adversaries.

BERLIN, by wireless to Sayville, Oct. 30.—Capt. Boelke, the famous German aviator, collided with another aeroplane in the course of an aerial combat on Oct. 28 and on landing behind the German lines died as a result of his injuries. On Oct. 27 Capt. Boelke had shot down his forthright hostile aeroplane.

Field Marshal von Hindenburg, chief of staff, has sent the following telegram to Capt. Boelke's father:

"I am deeply moved by the death of your heroic son under such painful circumstances. I knew him well and appreciated his services highly. I send you an expression of sincere condolences. The aviation service has lost its most successful aviator, whose memory is imperishable."

Gen. von Ludendorff telegraphed: "On the occasion of the death of your heroic son I send sincere condolences. The army has lost its most successful aviator."

Boelke on Several Occasions Brought Down Two and Three Machines.

Boelke's growing record of enemy aircraft destroyed began to attract world-wide attention last winter. When he had brought down his twelfth aeroplane, the Kaiser sent the then Lieut. Boelke the following letter in an handwritten note.

"I have been informed that you have again returned successfully from combat with the enemy's aeroplanes. I recently have bestowed on you the highest war order, Pour le Merite, in order to demonstrate the importance I attach to the results of your courageous action, but I shall not let pass this moment, when you have disabled your twelfth aeroplane, which means that you disabled two air squadrons of the enemy, without expressing to you again my fullest acknowledgment of your excellent achievement in aerial fighting."

The same dispatches which told of this letter also told that Boelke had felled his thirteenth plane, in an aerial engagement near Verdun. His record of accomplishment continued to accumulate more rapidly than his sovereign could acknowledge it. It was related that, while the Kaiser was writing him another letter congratulating him on his fourteenth plane brought down, news came which caused him to scratch out the word "fourteenth" and substitute "fifteenth."

There were two previous reports of Boelke's death, one last January, when he had accounted for eight enemy planes, and another in June. Both reports came from allied sources and were due to the mistaken belief of British and French aviators that they had killed their most formidable antagonist.

Few of his enemies survived a midair conflict with Boelke, but one who was only wounded and, as reported last June, was Serg. Victor E. Chapman of New York, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Jay Chapman, and a member of the Foreign Legion. Corp. Rockwell, who is from Atlanta, was said to have kept Boelke's wounds while the wounded Chapman complained out of his range.

The reports of machines downed by Boelke have come steadily, sometimes in two and three, and the latest sent to the American newspapers was his thirty-sixth, reported a week ago.

Lieut. Wierwille, who next to Boelke was Germany's most successful fighting flyer, was killed a month ago, after having shot down his fourteenth allied aircraft. At about the same time it was stated that Sub-Lieut. Nungesser of the French aviation service had reached a total of 17 German aircraft destroyed.

Boelke Greatly Admired by His Adversaries.

Capt. Boelke's daring air feats won him not only the affection of his own people, but the ardent admiration of British and French aviators, who, in view of the strong sporting aspect of their dangerous calling, cannot conceal their feeling toward a master sportsman.

A British officer who met Boelke in midair without being killed wrote: "He flies beautifully and handles the Fokker as if born to the air. He shoots through his propeller, and, thanks to the speed of his machine, is well-nigh invincible. He flies one of the speediest planes I ever have seen."

Herbert Swepe, staff correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World, interviewed Capt. Boelke when his record of enemy aircraft had reached 20. The interviewer found that Boelke regarded flying as a military duty, and not a sport, as most Englishmen do. "How many of the 20 men whom you shot down lived?" he asked Boelke.

"Only two, unfortunately," he responded. "They all fought so well I was sorry luck was against them. I think most of the 19 were killed by bullets from my machine, or died in the fall, few meeting death in smashing on the ground. One Englishman, Wilson, and

LOOKS LIKE LANDSLIDE, M'CORMICK DECLARES

Democratic Chairman, in Chicago for Conference, Says President Will Sweep West.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Vance C. McCormick, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, came to Chicago today for what is expected to be his final conference of the campaign with Senator Thomas J. Walsh, manager of the Western Democratic headquarters. The latest reports from leaders in each state were discussed.

Chairman McCormick said: "Honestly, it looks like a landslide. I find conditions in this territory improved over what they were when I was here two weeks ago, and that is saying a whole lot. You know, things looked mighty good to me then and I returned to New York inspired with the conviction that the West was on fire for the President. I could smell the smoke then. Now I can almost see the blaze."

"The West has no 'edge' on the East in this matter of loyalty to the President. The East is mighty warm in its support of Wilson and Democrats generally. It has improved daily for the last two weeks, and states that were doubtful may be counted safely for the President at this time."

"In Greater New York," McCormick said, "I know of my own knowledge that the President's strength has been a source of surprise and gratification to the local organization, whose leaders confidently believe that the boroughs constituting the greater city will roll up one of the heaviest Democratic pluralities in many years."

"I see by the Chicago papers that Frank H. Hitchcock claims the election for Mr. Hughes, and gives a list of states he professes to believe the Republicans will carry. Of the 26 states he claims for Hughes, I do not regard six as certainly for the Republican candidate."

"The Wilson sentiment in Ohio that makes Mr. Hitchcock concede the State to the Democrats does not stop at imaginary state lines. It extends all over this section and by this token, not to mention confidential reports and first-hand advice, we know that Illinois and Indiana are also for the President. This same sentiment is sweeping the Pacific coast."

"I confidently expect the President to carry Connecticut, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and West Virginia; in fact, the situation now looks as if these states are no longer in doubt."

"The swing is toward the President and there are no signs of abatement."

Hughes to Get More Than 500 Electoral Votes, Wilcox Says.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The prediction that Charles E. Hughes will have considerably more than 500 electoral votes was made today by Chairman William R. Wilcox of the Republican National Committee.

"Mr. Hughes will have 250 electoral votes or more," Mr. Wilcox said. "My reports show that Ohio, Illinois and Indiana will all go Republican, as will also New York State. We also consider Michigan safe, and although there is a bitter fight in Utah, I believe that Utah will go Republican. The Democrats have been claiming Minnesota lately, but my reports from that State do not indicate that it will go Democratic. As to Wisconsin, there are a good many varying reports from there, but I was told today by authorities from that State that it would be in the Republican column."

TEUTONS OVERTAKE FLEEING ARMY IN NORTH DOBRUDJA

Berlin Announces That Mackensen's Forces Have Come in Contact With Russians—Gains Reported on Hungarian Border.

Germans Storm French Positions South of Somme, but Lose Ground to British in North.

Heavy Fighting Is Reported on Cerna Front in Macedonia and in Volhynia—Russians Are Repulsed.

BERLIN, Oct. 30, by wireless to Sayville.—The capture of several strongly defended positions near the Hungarian-Rumanian frontier was announced today by the War Office. In Dobrudja Field Marshal von Mackensen's forces, continuing their pursuit of the Russians and Rumanians, have come in contact with the Russians. The announcement follows:

"Army group of Archduke Charles Francis: In the wooded Carpathians on the Hungarian-Rumanian frontier and in the mountains to the south, the weather was rainy and quiet prevailed. Only patrols were active."

"Southeast of Rotherthum Pass the success obtained on the preceding day by the Hanoverian and Mecklenburg Rifles was enlarged and several strongly defended Rumanian positions on the heights were taken by storm. From the last engagements in this district 18 officers and more than 700 men have been brought back prisoners."

"Southwest of Sauruk Pass the Rumanians pushed back one of our columns."

"In Northern Dobrudja our pursuing detachments are in touch with Russian infantry and cavalry."

Heavy fighting is in progress on the Macedonian front in the region below Monastir. The repulse of French and Serbian attacks was announced today by the War Office as follows:

"After strong artillery preparation Serbian and French troops on the Cerna yesterday made several attacks, first against small and then against larger sectors of the German and Bulgarian positions. The attacks failed completely before our curtain of fire and in the case of the fighting northeast of Veljevo on account of a counter-attack. Equally unsuccessful hostile attacks were delivered near Kenali and Gradishtina."

WOMEN'S BALLOTS THE BALANCE OF POWER IN ILLINOIS

650,000 Expected to Be Cast and Each Side Claims 65
Per Cent of Them.

MANY ON CHICAGO LISTS

Whether Wilson or Hughes Shall Get State May Be Decided in Cook County.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—The question of which Illinois women will do with their votes is puzzling political prophets of all parties. About 700,000 women are registered in the State. It is expected that 650,000 will vote for the first time for presidential electors, and they hold the balance of power.

The big commonwealth is in a pivotal condition. Scant attention was paid to the women until the election. Now a rush of organization is on both sides. The county committees all over the State have taken the task in hand.

Mrs. George Buss, head of the Democratic Women's Campaign Bureau, declares that President Wilson will get 65 per cent of the women's vote. This would give the State to him even if Hughes should get the 100,000 plurality from the men's votes which they are claiming.

Mrs. Harriet Vittum of the Republican Bureau says 65 per cent of the women will vote for Hughes. She bases this prediction on a poll of the leading women's clubs in Chicago and throughout the State. It is estimated, however, that not five per cent of the women of the State are members of women's clubs.

It is thought that party supremacy in the State will be settled in Chicago. More than 30,000 women are registered here. Roger C. Sullivan and chief aide declare they will carry Cook County for the Democratic ticket by 125,000 to 150,000.

Cook County is Acker. Mayor Thompson, Republican, carried the city in the spring of 1915 by 18,000. He received 65 per cent of the women's votes. Yet in the previous autumn, Sullivan, Democratic candidate for United States Senator, got a plurality of 60,000 here. Last spring the Democrats, won by 80,000 for municipal judges, won by 50,000, with about 50 per cent of the vote cast.

A local newspaper is undertaking to poll the women's vote in all parts of Chicago and in the large industrial centers of the State. Up to last night this poll showed 477 votes for Wilson and 320 for Hughes.

Many influential women are working for Mr. Wilson and among them are Jane Addams, Sophonisba Breckinridge, dean of women at the University of Chicago; Edith Abbott, head of the Hull House; Mrs. W. I. Thomas, wife of the head of the University of Chicago's sociological department; Mary McDowell of the University of Chicago settlement; Antonette Funk, settlement worker; Mrs. A. D. Imman, Miss Gertrude Barnum, Mrs. F. M. Knight, Mrs. Marion Biel, Mrs. Virginia Leroy and a score of other leaders in philanthropy and progressive legislation. Miss Addams came from Bar Harbor, Me., but is so seriously ill that she cannot take an active part in the campaign.

Among the well-known women working for Hughes is Mrs. Raymond Robins. "The Democratic organizations are sending out caution notices to the women in relation to marking ballots. They are advised to place the cross in the circle and to avoid attempts to vote for individuals, for fear of nullifying the ballot. The registration of women in large centers outside of Chicago shows a total of about 60 per cent of the men's registration.

The Illinois men's vote in 1912 was: Wilson, 404,045; Roosevelt, 238,475; Taft, 233,613.

The Adamson bill has won the support of women in the industrial as well as that of the men. The Women's Trades Union League, which is allied with the Chicago Federation of Labor, has 20,000 members, is believed to be almost unanimously for the President.

Mrs. Thomas D. Knight, wife of the president of the Progressive Club of Chicago, has announced that she will support President Wilson. She has been prominent in suffrage work and was one of the leaders of Chicago in the Progressive movement.

Mrs. Alice Dow Allinson, head of the Henry Booth Settlement House, a former Progressive, is another who has just announced that she will support President Wilson.

THIS STOPS HAIR FROM FALLING OUT

Ever try to count the dead fallen hairs in your comb and brush? They are nature's advance warning of future baldness and proof that the dangerous little dandruff germ is busy on your scalp.

Dr. Hangerbund, the famous Paris specialist, first discovered that dandruff and falling hair are caused by a microbe. Then came the discovery of the value of the real Parisian Sage (liquid form) in destroying the dandruff germ and promptly preventing the further loss of hair. The effect of only three days' use of Parisian Sage is simply marvelous, and the American people have now awakened to the fact that dandruff is just as unnecessary as it is unhealthy, and that they can be quickly rid of it and save their hair by using a few ounces of Parisian Sage.

Parisian Sage is sold at drug and toilet counters everywhere; it is an ideal, dainty perfume liquid, free from grease and stickiness, and will surely cause hair to grow soft, lustrous and really seem twice as abundant.

Wells-Wilson Drug Co. always have a large supply and guarantee it to you—45¢.

HINDENBURG SAYS FRENCH ARMY WILL BE DESTROYED

Methods of Fighting Brought About by British Responsible for Decimation of Republic's
Forces, Says German Chief of Staff.

BERLIN, by wireless to Sayville, Oct. 30.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg, German Chief of Staff, is quoted by the semi-official Overseas News Agency as follows:

"The French show great tenacity, but they are exterminating lives by their method of fighting. All their tenacity will be of no avail, for in the end, there will be none of them left. This fate of the French nation is owing above all else to the British. If the British ask next spring for one more offensive campaign, they will rob France of the remainder of her army and her national strength.

"This war will make no great change in the estimate of British military accomplishments. Great strategists, in particular, are lacking among the British.

"The Transylvanian situation is excellent. The Rumanians are in retreat and the day of reckoning is coming. I welcome their entrance into the war with joy. By means of it we got out of trench warfare."

"Replying to a question regarding the reported attempt against the Queen of Rumania, Field Marshal von Hindenburg shook his head and said:

"Attempts of this kind must always be condemned."

(This is the first report to reach the United States of an attempt against the life of Queen Marie of Rumania.)

"The Field Marshal then spoke about his visit to Berlin of the Turkish Minister of War, Enver Pasha, whom he called a clear, honest and trustworthy man and an excellent soldier."

"The Chief of Staff expressed his admiration and respect for the Bulgarian King and the Crown Prince of Austria."

"The Field Marshal said that since the beginning of the war he had been on home leave in order to see his family and his friends. Speaking on the importance of sleep, he said:

"The main thing is sleeping. Soldiers must be able to sleep—that is most important quality."

"As for the sleeping of army commanders while great decisions were going on, the Field Marshal said: 'No, no! If everything doesn't go as you want it, then sleep perhaps is somewhat less sound. If everything is well, then, of course, you sleep all the better.'"

WALTON PLEADS GUILTY TO DETROIT ROBBERY

Former St. Louisian Visited by Henry Ford Before Going to Court.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 30.—James Walton, formerly of St. Louis, leader of the bandit gang that robbed a pay car of the Burroughs Adding Machine Co. of $22,000 here on Aug. 4, pleaded guilty to the crime in arraignment in Justice Court today. He was bound over to the Recorder's Court and probably will be sentenced this afternoon.

Before going to court Walton received a visit from Henry Ford, the automobile manufacturer. Neither Walton nor Ford would discuss their conference. Walton was married a few months ago and it is believed that Ford offered employment to Mrs. Walton.

Walton's wife was with her husband when he was arrested at Dallas, Tex., recently. She voluntarily accompanied him to Detroit. No charge has been made against her in connection with the robbery.

Walton declared today that he was "double crossed" by his brother, Douglas, and Arthur Steffins, who, he charged, aided him in the robbery. Detectives are searching for these men. Walton said he received only $3000 of the loot and charged the other $19,000 in addition to receiving a share of $2000, took more than $2000 of the remaining cash and fled.

BOY GANG MEMBER KILLS YOUTH

Says He Accidentally Shot Lad While Holding Up Man.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Jerry Sakardo, 18 years old, who, the police say, described himself as the "gun lugger" of a gang of boy highwaymen, last night shot and killed Elmer Carlson, 19, who, Sakardo said, was the "brains" of the gang.

Sakardo, according to the police, said he shot Carlson accidentally while holding up a man under Carlson's direction. Frank Carlson, the boy's father, said his son had quit the gang of thieves five months ago. He was shot because he refused to return to his former companions, the elder Carlson said.

SON OF A BANKER SUES HUSBAND OF WOMAN HE VISITED

Robbery Charge Follows Replevin of $500 Worth of Jewels Festus Man Says Were Taken.

COUPLE DENIES GUILT

Norville Brickley Says Edward Randolph Flourished Pistol and Demanded $1000.

A preliminary hearing, scheduled today at Festus, Mo., 20 miles from St. Louis, in which a bank president's son has made remarkable charges, causing a warrant for first-degree robbery to be issued against Edward Randolph, a mechanic, has interested almost the entire town.

Norville Brickley, 27 years old, son of Frank W. Brickley, president of the Citizens Bank at Festus, is the prosecuting witness. He is an automobile dealer, mechanic and formerly was a member of the Festus Methodist Church, which he attends regularly.

Brickley alleges that he went to Randolph's home, Oct. 15, in response to a summons from Randolph's wife, Agnes, 32 years old, who had explained to her husband that she had been visiting him at Randolph's home. He had just been admitted to the Randolph home by Mrs. Randolph, he alleges, when Randolph suddenly appeared on the scene, rushing into a room with a revolver in hand and a "Ha, ha, I've discovered all!" manner, and demanding $1000.

Says Jewelry Was Taken.
The banker's son says he protested that he did not have such a sum with him, whereupon Randolph took from him a diamond stud, a gold watch and a penknife, all valued at $500.

Brickley told a Post-Dispatch reporter that Randolph did not give an explicit reason for demanding $1000, but intimated that he would make public the fact that he had found Brickley alone with Mrs. Randolph. At the time, Brickley said, Mrs. Randolph was in the room, but did not interfere with her husband or make any remonstrance.

Upon leaving the Randolph home Brickley hastened to get a writ of replevin, by which he recovered the diamond watch and knife. Then he had Randolph arrested on a warrant issued by Justice of the Peace F. C. Lucky. Randolph was released on $1000 bond, and retained as counsel Albert Miller, former Prosecuting Attorney of Jefferson County.

Brickley Says Conduct Was Proper.
Brickley said that for four years he had had a casual acquaintance with Mrs. Randolph. On Sept. 18, he said, he was asked to go to her home to instruct her in driving an automobile. He said his conduct had been proper.

Randolph, when asked for a statement, said that his attorney had advised him not to discuss the case. However, he intimated Brickley's charge that he had threatened his life, which was a lie, and that he had gone fishing on the morning of Oct. 15, and that upon his return home, shortly after noon, he found Brickley with his wife.

He said that Brickley asked if there was not some way the affair could be adjusted. "I replied that it would be settled in a court of law," Randolph said. Randolph says he asked Brickley to leave the jewelry as evidence that Brickley had been in the Randolph home. He said Brickley voluntarily handed it over.

Says Brickley Tried to Kiss Her.
Mrs. Randolph told a reporter that Brickley had called at her home three times since Sept. 18. On that date, she said, she and her husband were out. "I use no special formula except to try to get my man before he gets me. At which she recently had purchased. In the garage, she said, Brickley tried to kiss her. She said her 10-year-old daughter, Audrey, witnessed this. When Brickley called on a later occasion, Mrs. Randolph said, she refused him admittance. Brickley emphatically denied Mrs. Randolph's statements.

Peter S. Terry, counsel for Brickley, said that Randolph filed a divorce suit in 1911, in which the names of four prominent Festus or Crystal City men were mentioned. Terry said he was Randolph's lawyer at the time, and that the couple became reconciled before the trial. Randolph is employed by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. at Crystal City, two miles from Festus.

SUGGESTION TO WOMEN
Who Are "Just Ready to Drop"
When you feel so weak that you can hardly drag yourself about—and because you have not slept well, you get up as tired-out next morning as when you went to bed, you need help. You can get it just as Mrs. Maxwell did. She says:

"I regret my tired-out condition. I was weak and nervous and could not sleep; finally I was unable to do my housework. A friend asked me to try Vinol. I did so and improved rapidly. I toned up my system. I regained my strength and am no longer nervous, sleep well, and do all my housework." Mrs. J. C. Maxwell, Montgomery, Ala.

There is no secret about Vinol. It owes its success to beef and cod liver peptones and manganese, the oldest and most famous body-building and strength-creating tonics.

So many letters like the above are continually coming to our attention, that we feel compelled to assure the money paid for Vinol in every case where it fails to give satisfaction.

U. S. EXPORT GAIN IS CHIEFLY DUE TO WAR, HUGHES SAYS

America Unprepared for Post-Bellum Competition With Europe, He Declares.

QUOTES FEDERAL OFFICIAL

Undertakes to Show That Industrial Efficiency Abroad Is Greater Than Ever.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Oct. 30.—Charles E. Hughes, replying further to statements in President Wilson's Cincinnati speech, told an audience here today that the $2,000,000,000 increase in American exports last year was due almost exclusively to the demand created by the European war, and cited a statement by Charles Hurley of the Federal Trade Commission to uphold the Republican claim that America is "not prepared for post-bellum competition with Europe."

"What are we to do?" Hughes asked. "There is but one safe course. It is to talk about conditions of work. If there is no work, and you cannot have any lasting basis for prosperity unless you apply the Republican doctrine of protection to American industries."

"I was amazed the other day when the speakerman for the opposing party told the people that we were ready. He said in substance that the nations engaged in this struggle are so wasted by war that we need not fear their competition."

Quotes Trade Commissioner.
"That is a very serious mistake. Let those who speak for the opposing party take the words of the Federal Trade Commission, spoken almost at the same time as a result of their own inquiry. What is the use of having so-called expert bodies who do not pay any attention to what they say?"

"Chairman Hurley of the Federal Trade Commission said last week in New York: 'While in many respects we know little of what is going on in the world, we do know that, within the sound of the guns, almost within reach of the falling shells, Europe is reawakening her industries.'"

"He said further: 'Under the stress of a life and death struggle, every effort is being made to attain the highest efficiency in the production of the goods of all kinds.' He added: 'New processes are being discovered, new inventions are being made and new forms of organization are being created, and that war has compelled Great Britain to make 30 years of industrial progress in 30 months.'"

"If our industries are not to be caught slow and flabby by muscle we must improve our business organization, must increase our manufacturing and handicrafting efficiency, and must keep pace with every step in Europe."

"That is the statement of the board, by the chairman of it, with respect to increased efficiency abroad. They have got organization. They have got a better knowledge of themselves. They have got a better discipline and efficiency in production than ever before. The economic basis of production has not been affected. Even the waste of men, in view of the numbers coming along year by year into industrial activity, leaves them with more men today to enter into production than they had before."

Protection Required, He Says.
"Now these are facts for American business men and American working men to think carefully over. When it is said here we need organization, I agree. When it is said that we need development of discipline and power, I agree, but there is one thing that was not said. It is the thing which our opponents, in view of their principles, cannot well say. It is a thing that we do say. It is that whatever our organization, whatever our discipline, you have got to have your markets protected against the competition of labor that is paid less than you are."

"We propose to protect American industry. You cannot run this country on the principle of tariff for revenue only. We must build up American industry, protect the American wage scale and lay the foundation for social justice."

Hughes spoke in the open air here before a crowd which was so noisy that his voice could hardly be heard 50 feet away. He left at 11:30 for Stuebenville.

CHUBB SAYS REED MISSED
391 ROLLCALLS, STONE 396

Perceval Chubb, leader of the St. Louis Ethical Society, in an address before the society yesterday afternoon, declared that United States Senators devote very little time to the duties of their offices. He said that of 33 retiring Senators, 15 missed more than 400 of the 1199 sessions of the last Congress.

Illustrating his point, he said that Senator Reed missed 291 roll calls, and Senator Stone 396. He said they were no worse in this respect than other Senators and that neither party was worse than the other. "There is a party complicity," he said, "under which each party allows the other to practice this tomfoolery, humbug and deceit."

He told of the franking evil, under which Senators and Congressmen obtain leave to print in the Congressional Record speeches they do not deliver, and that they even put in the applause which they think they would have received if the speech had been delivered.

BERESFORD SAYS KAISER LOST CHANCE TO WIN AT OUTSET

English Naval Strategist Asserts Germany Could Have Sunk 1000 British Vessels First Week.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Admiral Lord Beresford, English naval strategist, is of the opinion that had Germany taken advantage of the opportunity offered at the beginning of the war, victory would have been gained forthwith. In a letter to Col. R. M. Thompson, president of the Navy League of the United States, he said in part:

"We escaped a most appalling danger, as, if the Germans had attacked us first, without a declaration of war, and sent what they could have sent—140 cruisers and armed merchant ships—on to our unprotected trade routes, we would have been brought to our knees in a couple of months; they would have put down a thousand ships in the first week, and if we had three times the number of dreadnaughts it would have availed us nothing."

"If the Germans had carried out that plan they could have got into Paris, taken the city, and then been in St. Petersburg in a short time, and become the dominant power of Europe and the world, possibly for a century."

UNIVERSAL 8-HOUR DAY LAW

"Every laborer, workman, clerk in store, office or industrial establishment, and in general every employee of any kind shall not be forced to work more than eight hours daily, six days a week, and is exempt from work on Sundays and legal holidays."

"If the laborer, workman, clerk, etc., be requested to work longer than eight hours, as stated, he shall be paid 25 per cent overtime for the extra work done during the day, 50 per cent overtime from 6 in the evening to midnight and 100 per cent after that hour."

CARRERA'S REPUDIATION OF CRITICISM OF U. S. ACCEPTED

Ambassador Explains Peace Delegate
Did Not Authorize Statement Given Out by Mexican News Bureau.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Acceptance by the State Department today of an explanation by Mexican Ambassador Arredondo denying the authenticity of a statement of the signature of Luis Cabrera assailing the American Government for permitting aid to reach Villa from this side of the border is expected to close the incident. The statement had threatened serious friction between the United States and Mexico.

Arredondo made known his purpose last night of calling at the State Department to explain that the statement was put out by an employee of the Mexican News Bureau, the de facto Government's semi-official publicity agency, without the knowledge or consent of either the embassy or Cabrera.

While at the department, Arredondo says, he will deny also the authenticity of alleged quotations from Gen. Carranza, Gen. Obregon, the Mexican War Minister, and Gen. Pablo Gonzales, commander of the forces in Mexico City, reflecting anti-American sentiments, which are expected to appear in an American weekly magazine.

BLACK MURDER JURY ORDERED

Judge Refuses to Discharge Panel
Which Went Out Saturday Night
Takes Up Ryan Case.

GALVESTON, Tex., Oct. 30.—The jury in the John S. Copeland case informed Judge Briggs today that it was hopelessly divided and unable to arrive at a verdict, and begged to be discharged. Judge Briggs ordered it to continue its work. It began its deliberations Saturday night.

Shortly after Judge Briggs asked if counsel were ready to proceed with the case of George Ryan, who, like Copeland, was charged with the killing of Black, the State asked for a continuance, but the defense said it desired to proceed. The State said that so far it had been unable to proceed with the attendance as a witness of Sadie Black, adopted daughter of the dead lecturer, who is now a student at Hedding College, Abingdon, Ill.

Copeland, a bank cashier at Marshall, Mo., charged with the murder of William Black, an anti-Catholic lecturer, at Marshall, in February, 1915.

Opposing counsel finally agreed that Ryan's case should not be set for trial until that of Copeland is disposed of. Similar action was taken in the case of George Tier.

The dispatch added that it was also reported the United States Government was considering the rehabilitation of Nicaragua's finances by adding $2,000,000 to the $3,000,000 due on the canal treaty concession, thus forming a fund to guarantee an issue of 15,000,000 cordobas (a cordoba is equal to 25 American gold), with which to pay all debts.

GARRISON REFUSES TO AFFIRM OR DENY POSTSCRIPT STORY

Bryan, Daniels, W. B. Wilson and Burleson Haven't Spoken on Lodge Lusitania Charge.

OTHERS MAKE DENIALS

Lane, McAdoo, Houston, Redfield and Gregory Say Allegation Is Untrue.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Up to noon today former Secretary of War Garrison had persisted in his refusal to discuss Senator Lodge's charge that President Wilson wrote a postscript to the first Lusitania note. It was through Secretary Garrison, according to Lodge, that the report of the alleged incident came from the cabinet room.

"I refuse to be quoted on any or all subjects, not a word to say about anything whatever," said Garrison to the Post-Dispatch correspondent last night. The former War Secretary was reminded that his declaration to deny or affirm the report might be misconstrued, but he repeated his refusal to be quoted in any way.

Of those who were members of the cabinet when the first Lusitania note was sent, the following have not been seen for a statement regarding the alleged postscript: Secretaries Daniels and Wilson, Postmaster-General Burleson and former Secretary Bryan. Secretaries Lane, McAdoo, Houston and Redfield and Attorney-General Gregory have entered denial that the postscript was written. Daniels, Wilson, Burleson and Bryan have been on campaign tours for the past several days.

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo reiterated his declaration that Senator Lodge's charge was without foundation. He said:

"It is to be regretted," he said, "that the extremists of the Republican campaign induce me of Senator Lodge's standing to make such serious, harmful and indefensible misrepresentations. There is not a shred of truth in the fabric of this disgraceful libel."

Attorney-General Gregory made this denial:

"There was no postscript to the Lusitania note, as alleged, and it is not true that members of the cabinet threatened to resign. There is not the slightest foundation for the charge made by Senator Lodge. I am at a loss to understand such a statement on the part of Senator Lodge."

Secretary of Commerce Redfield said: "Senator Lodge's statement is absolutely untrue. No such episode as he relates occurred. No postscript was added to the second Lusitania note and members of the cabinet did not threaten to resign."

D. F. Houston, Secretary of Agriculture, sent the following telegram yesterday to Democratic national headquarters in New York:

"This is a fabrication, pure and simple. The President would have been incapable of conceiving such a crooked course. I never heard of such a postscript and did not then threaten to resign. I have at no other time threatened to resign. I would have been astounded at the reported statement if I had not noted other irresponsible, unpatriotic and disloyal remarks of Republican leaders, especially raising and dealing with sectionalism. Surely the Republican leaders are very desperate and in sad need of issues when they lend themselves to such things."

New York Herald Version of Alleged Note Postscript

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The Herald prints the following Washington dispatch:

"The Herald is able to add, from an absolutely authentic source, another chapter to the controversy growing out of the declaration of Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, that President Wilson wrote a secret postscript to the second Lusitania note, in which he threatened Germany that it need not take the 'strict accountability' demands of the United States too seriously."

"That postscript informed Germany that the United States was prepared to accept as effective the Bryan peace treaty principle, which would have bound the United States to take no action for one year, while the submarine controversy was under investigation by an international commission."

"The submission of the proposal to the cabinet for inclusion in the Lusitania note came about in this way: The Senate Powers had all accepted Mr. Bryan's peace treaty proposal and had negotiated such treaties with the United States. Germany had accepted the proposal in principle, but never had negotiated a treaty or manifested any inclination to do so."

"It was Mr. Bryan's idea that the benefits of his peace treaty scheme should be extended to Germany as well as to the entire Powers, even if Germany had not taken advantage of the opportunity offered her before the war to negotiate such a treaty. He felt that Germany was sincere in her acceptance of the principle of his scheme, and he therefore wanted it put into effect in the submarine controversy."

"The matter was discussed by the cabinet at great length and with great heat, and it is true, as Senator Lodge states, that three members of the cabinet threatened to resign if the proposal were written into the note to Germany."

"The objections to the inclusion of the proposal were two-fold. In the first place, it was argued that to make an offer to remain inactive for a year in a note in which Germany was informed that she was to be held to strict accountability and that the United States would 'omit no word or act' was nothing short of farceful."

"In the second place, it was urged that the submarine warfare was a continuing evil and that to apply the Bryan peace theory to the situation simply

Girls in Charge of National Guard Recruiting Office

At the RECRUITING TENT

THE national guard authorities in New York have adopted a novel means of securing recruits. They have opened a station with girls in charge. The girls, who are attractively dressed in khaki, are expected to get curious young men who may be passing the station interested in military matters and to influence them to join the guard. It is said the regular army is so favorably impressed with this new recruiting idea that it will open similar stations, with girls in charge in several cities.

have submarine warfare for a year without fear of any retaliation by the United States.

"The above information has been in the possession of a Herald reporter since the day the Lusitania note was published. The source of the Herald's information is quite as authentic as is that of Senator Lodge. Publication of the facts has been withheld upon request, but Senator Lodge's statement of the case appears to remove the ban of secrecy from them."

New York Sun Says President Did Put Addendum to Note.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The Sun today prints the following from Washington: "The Sun learns positively that President Wilson did put an addendum to the second Lusitania note which amounted to assuring Germany privately that the demands in the note were not to be taken too seriously. Investigation shows that Senator Lodge has proof of his charge that the addendum would have been sent had not certain members of the cabinet threatened to resign unless it was eliminated."

"Secretary Bryan's resignation from the cabinet followed the protest of Secretary of War Garrison against the secret postscript. Only the fact that the President quickly changed his mind and incidentally blamed Mr. Bryan for having instigated the thought of the 'private addendum' prevented Mr. Garrison from tendering his resignation on the spot. The humiliation Mr. Garrison felt is said by many of his friends to have been at least partly responsible for his subsequent resignation from the cabinet. Neither President Wilson nor Secretary Bryan regarded the addendum as an unprecedented procedure until Mr. Garrison had emphasized the fact that it amounted virtually to betraying the confidence of the American people."

Reason Prompting Change.

"To understand properly the reason which prompted the President to add to the note it is necessary to divulge some of the confidential diplomatic history of the cabinet meeting early in June, 1915."

"After the first strong Lusitania note, Germany retaliated by disputing the facts which had been gathered respecting the sinking of that vessel. This country was aroused by the manner in which the Imperial German Government ignored the vital issue."

"In response to this public sentiment, President Wilson wrote his first draft of the second note demanding a disavowal of intention to attack American lives or property, reparation and prompt steps."

WORRY IS A DISEASE

The disorder which causes its victims to worry whether they have any thing to worry about or not is neurasthenia.

Neurasthenia is entirely distinct from hysteria although the patient may have both diseases at the same time.

Neurasthenia often results from some nervous shock, such as the loss of a near relative, business reverses, or some severe overstrain of the nervous system. The patient is usually pale, showing that the blood is thin, and the first thing to do is to build up the blood because anything built up the general health helps to correct the neurasthenic condition. Rest and a good tonic is the very best treatment in most cases.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are an ideal tonic for this condition because they are non-alcoholic and neurasthenic patients should avoid alcoholic stimulants.

The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., has published a little book on nervous disorders, a chapter on neurasthenia, in which the symptoms are fully described and the correct treatment given. The booklet is free of charge.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by your druggist or will be sent by mail, postpaid on receipt of price, 25 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50.—ADV.

3 SPEECHES TO BE MADE THIS WEEK BY THE PRESIDENT

He Will Close Campaign With Addresses at Buffalo, New York and Shadow Lawn.

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Oct. 30.—President Wilson plans to devote virtually his entire time this week to his campaign for re-election. He will make speeches in three places. He will visit Buffalo Wednesday and New York City Thursday and next Saturday will address a gathering of New Jersey citizens here. He probably will go to Princeton election day to vote.

Arrangements have been made for the President to receive election returns at Shadow Lawn. He probably will be surrounded only by members of his family. Secretary Tumulty and other White House officials will get the news at the executive offices in Asbury Park.

Mr. Wilson probably will return to Washington within two or three days after the election.

Viscount Sato, the new Japanese Ambassador to the United States, will pay a formal call on President Wilson this afternoon to present his credentials. Later the President will receive a committee from the National Association of Commissioners of Agriculture and tomorrow night he will have as his dinner guest Augustus Thomas, the playwright, who will speak at a meeting here to-night in behalf of Mr. Wilson's candidacy. The President may occupy a box at the meeting.

Wilson to Speak at Madison Square and Cooper Union, Nov. 2

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Another speech was added today to President Wilson's campaign itinerary on Nov. 2, the day of the Democratic rally in Madison Square Garden. Joseph T. Tumulty, the President's secretary, announced, upon his arrival at Democratic National Headquarters, that Mr. Wilson had consented to address "first voters" at Cooper Union after the close of his garden address.

This will make three speeches for the President on that day. In the afternoon he will talk at the Wilson Business Men's League luncheon at a local hotel.

attitude of Germany on the Gulfight and Cushing as proof that the Lusitania case could be settled in the same spirit. The fact that the German communication regarding the Gulfight, came just as the Lusitania note was about to be sent made the addition of the addendum a logical procedure. It was added to the note and approved by Secretary Bryan, who regarded it as precluding any possibility of a diplomatic crisis. It was marked "confidential," because it was simply a hastily added postscript to a communication which had not been digested.

"Just when other members of the cabinet learned of the postscript is not definitely known. It is stated on excellent authority, however, that the note plus the addendum came very near reaching the telegraph office before cabinet members had a chance to object."

"Mr. Garrison is understood at once to have taken the position that the addendum to a note such as the President had written completely vitiated the firm denials and amounted to assuring Germany privately not to take the note seriously."

Mr. Bryan's prophecy that an important word would come from the German Government came true, but it was not a communication directly bearing on the Lusitania case. It was a note from Berlin acknowledging in great detail its blame for the torpedoing of the American ship Gulfight and also admitting the dropping of bombs from a German aeroplane on the American ship Cushing.

"With this important information, Secretary Bryan got the President's ears privately and pressed his former arguments, which were now reinforced by the fulfillment of his prediction. He wanted the note substantially changed and called the President's attention to the fact that Germany indorsed the idea contained in his arbitration treaties and was willing now to give them a practical test."

"President Wilson was beset with various problems concerning the note, all of which demanded quick decision. He wanted to do something to eliminate the danger of the situation and save off the crisis and appease his Secretary of State at the same time. It was here that the addendum to which Senator Lodge refers became a factor in the situation."

President Wilson's Plan.

"The President's plan was to send the note as drafted, but to add a confidential postscript stating in effect that this Government regarded the friendly

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Oct. 30.—Renewal of declarations by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts that President Wilson eliminated a weakening postscript from the "strict accountability" note in connection with the sinking of the Lusitania has brought forth a statement from President Wilson, officials here taking the position that denials by cabinet members are sufficient.

LODGE CHARGE 'BACKSTAIR GOSSIP'

Former Assistant War Secretary Breckenridge Attributes It to Malice.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—Henry Breckenridge, who was Assistant Secretary of War under Lindley M. Garrison, has sent the following telegram to the Philadelphia Public Ledger in response to a request for a statement regarding the postscript to the first Lusitania note:

"Anyone who quoted me to Senator Lodge as reported in your telegram is a scoundrel. No member of President Wilson's cabinet ever threatened him on any subject. The malice that would seek for partisan advantage to enunciate the potency of an important act of one's Government in a vital international affair by the mongering of back-stair gossip is beneath contempt."

The Ledger's telegram to Breckenridge said:

"Senator Lodge quotes you as saying that President Wilson appended a postscript to the Lusitania note of May 13, in which he said to the German Government: 'Do not take the 'omit any word and act' phrase too seriously.' When this became known, Secretary Garrison and other members of the cabinet demanded its withdrawal under the threat of resignation, and the President withdrew it."

CITY HALL OFFERED TO AD MEN FOR WORLD CONVENTION

Mayor Also Tenders Executive Committee Use of Municipal Courts Building.

Mayor Kiel appeared before the Executive Committee of the Advertising Clubs of the World before adjournment of the morning session today and in a speech of welcome offered the committee the use of the city hall and Municipal Courts building for the departmental sessions of the ad clubs during their convention in St. Louis in June.

A committee is inspecting the two city buildings and will report later in the day whether they will fit the purpose. M. P. Linn, president of the St. Louis Ad Club, also made an address of welcome.

The Executive Committee is holding a two-days' session at the Hotel Jefferson. Dates for the four-day convention will be chosen and other arrangements made.

At the head of the committee is Herbert S. Houston, vice president of Doubleday, Page & Co. of Garden City, N. Y., who is president of the associated ad clubs.

The morning session was devoted to reports of special committees and officers. Among the reports was that of the Committee on Research, read by the chairman, Mac Martin of Minneapolis.

This committee reported that information gathered by 100 correspondents in all parts of the country showed that general retail business last year increased 15 per cent over the preceding year. This investigation included department stores, grocery stores, hardware stores, drug stores, jewelry stores and men's clothing stores.

In an interview this morning Houston said he was highly pleased with the progress of plans made by the Advertising Club of St. Louis for entertaining the convention. This is one of the most largely attended conventions in the world and President Houston said he expected 10,000 visitors to come to St. Louis. There were more than 600 at last year's convention in Philadelphia.

Members of the Executive Committee attending today's meeting are: Lafayette Young Jr., publisher of the Des Moines (Ia.) Capital; Frank A. Black, Boston; J. Clyde Oswald, New York; A. E. Chamberlain, Chicago; William C. d'Arcy, St. Louis; Wilson H. Lee, New Haven, Conn.; William G. Rose, Cleveland; William Woodhead, San Francisco; O. C. Harn, New York; Barney Link, New York; Frank H. Rowe, Toronto, Canada.

A dinner in honor of the visiting committee will be given at the Missouri Athletic Association at 7 o'clock tonight by the Advertising Club of St. Louis.

CAPT. KOENIG TELLS OF ARRIVAL AT BALTIMORE AND GREAT RECEPTION

Fifth Chapter of the Deutschland's Story Describes Great Care Used by Commander on Nearing United States Coast

This is the fifth chapter of Capt. Koenig's story of the trip of the Deutschland from Bremen to Baltimore. The fourth chapter printed yesterday told of the merchantman's experience in a gulf stream hurricane. The earlier sections described the start from Bremen, the passage of the North Sea and the English Channel and the entrance into the Atlantic.

By Capt. Paul Koenig.

Commander of Deutschland.

DURING the time we were on the Atlantic, when the weather was favorable we dodged certain hostile steamers by turning away, but remaining on the surface; and did not fear if we were seen once in a while. But later we customarily dove as soon as the least speck of smoke was seen on the horizon. Here in the neighborhood of the coast we did not want to be seen at any cost, as we had to take into account the presence of enemy warships.

On the eighth of July we knew by the color of the water that we could not be far away from our goal.

In the afternoon, I conferred with my officers concerning the best way to approach Cape Henry, which is farthest south of the two capes forming the entrance to Hampton Roads and Chesapeake Bay.

I favored waiting until daylight submerged in deep water about 10 miles outside of the American territorial boundary line, to make certain that no hostile preparations had been made on the part of the enemy. We had to take into account the possibility of something happening slipping through to the public concerning our voyage, and be prepared for any emergency.

Krapohl, contrary to this, proposed that we, under the protection of the night, should approach the coast as near as possible. He was supported in his opinion by Eyring. Both schemes had their merits as well as their drawbacks. I then decided to continue cautiously in the dusk of the night, and wait to see what kind of weather we would have.

The decision came in the form of a strong southwest breeze, which gave a splendid view of the surroundings, something which we had not had before in this heavy summer weather, but, on the other hand, the breeze caused the boat to reel uncomfortably in this rigid and choppy sea. We hurriedly decided, in order to be guided by the astronomic observations, which had been taken shortly before to submerge and direct our course toward the Cape Henry and Cape Charles lights.

American Coast Is Sight at Last.

We then proceeded until after a while a pale light alternatively appeared and disappeared on the horizon. This was the light of Cape Henry, America's first greeting.

Suddenly arose at the starboard side a white light which immediately disappeared. A moment later on the larboard side another white light also can be seen, which shines steadily. We look at one another.

What the device was that: It looked like two warships exchanging signals. Going at half speed, so submerged that the water reached up to the counting tower only, with every man at the diving stations, we stealthily slip closer, piercing the darkness with our glasses.

It did not take very long before the steady light proved itself to be the masthead light of an outgoing peaceful ship.

A boat came quickly toward us, and, steamer, which passed us at a short distance. Soon after, we were able to distinguish by the glare of the other light a three-masted schooner, which, in accordance with the practice among coastwise vessels, moved along without lights, and only at times showed a white light. It was this that appeared to us to be the signals of warships.

Being relieved of this anxiety, I now ordered full speed, and we soon sighted the steady light from Cape Henry. Now we knew that we had kept a true course. The sailing between the capes was before us.

Then the lighthouses themselves appeared, and with an indescribable feeling in my heart I greeted the Cape Charles revolving light, which so distinctly pierced the surrounding infinite darkness, a true sign that over there, after a long and dangerous journey, was land—our goal—the great America.

Passage of Light Buoys.

We now passed the light buoys, which could be seen when they rose on the billows, and which were lying in the steamship course; and the well-known clamor of the bellbuoys also satisfied our ears that land was near by. As soon as we passed the bellbuoys the entire boat arose to the surface. We now could see the lights from many passenger steamers, which did not, however, notice us, as we were still going without lights until we were opposite Cape Henry and had reached the American territory boundary line.

It was July 8, 11:30 at night. Inside the American boundary line we hoisted the lanterns and went smoothly between the different points, until we saw the pilot steamer's red and white lights before us. We stopped and flashed the usual blue light. Immediately the pilot steamer turned its flashlight upon us, and when he could not distinguish the outline of the boat, he cautiously drew near.

He centered his light upon us for a long time. Time and time again the flashlight swept the low deck and the coming tower of the Deutschland.

The unexpected sight seemed to have dumfounded our good pilot captain, and it took some time before the question was heard through the megaphone: "Where are you bound for?"

On our answer, "Newport News," he asked the name of the ship. We told him, repeating it twice, before he comprehended what kind of a visit this was. There must have certainly been considerable excitement on board that pilot ship.

What a pleasure and joy our first when the pilot had climbed up on the Deutschland's round hull to the deck, he greeted us with the following words, from the depth of his heart:

"Well, I'll be darned if it isn't you! Then he shook our hands heartily and expressed his sincere joy that he had had the opportunity to be the first American to bid the Deutschland welcome to the land of the free."

I immediately asked the man if we were expected or not. I was pleasantly surprised when I learned that a tug boat had been lying there for several days, probably waiting for us.

The journey up Chesapeake Bay. We then started with our pilot to find the tug boat that he mentioned. Meanwhile incoming steamers had discovered the strange newcomer and illuminated us continually with their searchlights, as continuously in American waters became a fantastic night dance.

To find our tug boat was not such an easy matter. We searched for a long time, and, at last, after two hours, we found it. It was the tug boat Timon, Capt. Hinch, belonging to the Nord Deutscher Lloyd.

Now the joy became immense. For 13 whole days Capt. Hinch, whose steamer, Necker, had been tied up at Baltimore since the beginning of the war, had been waiting for us at the entrance of Chesapeake Bay. Our long delay had caused him a great deal of worry. Now he was pleased to find his ward, for which he had been patiently searching, safely in his care. He first delivered the order to go to Baltimore instead of Newport News where everything had been made ready for our arrival.

We, therefore, left our pleasant pilot and started, accompanied by the Timon, into Chesapeake Bay. After we had proudly hoisted the German flag, which gloriously waved over these waters for the first time since the arrival of the Eitel Friedrich at Hampton Roads.

Thus we went at daybreak into the bay. Our journey became gradually a glorious procession, all neutral steamers, Americans and others, greeted us with three salutes, blowing their steam whistles and firing their guns.</ cool drink was to us can only be understood by him who knows what it is to live day by day in a temperature of 25 degrees centigrade.

The news of our arrival must have spread with great rapidity, because to our great surprise, we were met several hours from Baltimore by hosts with newspaper reporters and movie photographers on board. Although it was already growing dark, they eagerly took our pictures. Undoubtedly we would also have had to meet many interrogations, and shouted inquiries if the weather in Chesapeake Bay had not with the true spirit of a host thought of our rest and thus helped us.

A violent thunderstorm broke loose all about us and instead of a shower of questions, a shower of rain came down on us unburned seafarers. Soon the Deutschland was gliding along, chaperoned only by her faithful Timmins, again alone and quiet through the early darkness, onward toward its goal.

At eleven o'clock at night we stopped at Baltimore and with a groaning and creaking of the cable the anchor was thrown down for the first time on the American bottom.

Deutschland at Baltimore.

Our first view early the next morning met the corpulent Timmins which tied up alongside of us and now faithfully was lying by guarding us. As early as five o'clock the doctor came from the quarantine station. I immediately gave him our bill of health and certificate which had been written out for us by William Thomas Fee, the American consul in Bremen. The port physician declared us in good health and led three cheers for Deutschland and her crew. Then the anchor was hauled up and, with the Timmins guiding us, we went to our harbor place between locust posts. No boat could travel more safely than we did under the protection of the Timmins and so many other boats which the film firms had secured and which now were swarming around our Deutschland. On each boat five or six men were standing ready with their cameras and tried with all sorts of encouraging shouts to get us to pose in every kind of position which is proper for films. "Show your face, Cap!" "Turn your head a little." "Wave your hands."

These were some of the things they shouted. That is the way they called out all their directions and constantly they were cranking their machines as if they were crazy.

I was standing on the conning tower looking to the right and left, was waving with both hands, and the request they made of me to laugh was absolutely unnecessary because the film folks' ways and appearance was irresistibly comical.

My first trip through the city looked like a triumphal procession. Everywhere the automobile had to stop. From all sides were those wishing us good luck and congratulating us and everyone wanted to shake hands. During my first day in Baltimore I appeared to be a sort of traffic obstruction.

Thus the journey was slowly made to the Nord Deutscher Lloyd office which was surrounded by a great mass of people. First we completed the necessary clearance papers. I went to the custom authorities and made the usual visits. Everywhere I was greeted pleasantly and heartily. Then back to the office and now I devoted myself with the determination of a sailor to the press representatives. I was standing behind a counter before which an uncountable mass of persons crowded itself. Entirely alone I held my own against hundreds of people, men and women of which each one wanted to know something special. Every one asked me something from the most unimportant reporter to the great politicians.

A Trying Handshaking Ceremony.
A lady called out:
"But, my dear Captain, how does it look in an undershirt boat?"
Another asked, full of sympathy:
"Is it true that the babies are starving in Germany on account of lack of milk?"
A well fed man showed his interest by asking:
"Well, Captain, what did you live on?"

Often we were asked: "What do you know about the writings of the Kaiser which you carried with you for Wilson?" Which question I could answer just as easily as the question: "When do you expect to leave Baltimore again?"

To these and hundreds of other questions, I had to make answers. I was standing there like a breakwater with the waves of questions breaking all around me. Piece by piece they were picking apart my intellect and carried it away, which, however, I found again in the press the next morning. Though physically tired, I accepted an invitation to the German club. There we in unimpaired German company celebrated our arrival and with pride and joy thought of the fighting Fatherland, far away at home.

The following days were for us one continuous feast. Only one who knows the American hospitality and the American enthusiasm can comprehend how heartily we were received everywhere. The people were as if they had gone crazy. It felt good to the bottom of our hearts to see with what straightforward enthusiasm all Americans greeted our voyage and happy arrival and how freely they let this feeling go and expressed their enthusiasm for us.

Wherever they went they received us enthusiastically, shaking hands with us and singing "Die Wacht am Rhein" and threw themselves into the spirit of the celebration and gave us a great ovation. Invitations to officers and crew rained on us. Once, when my two mates were recognized in a large music hall the orchestra stopped, the spotlight was thrown on both men and during the general exaltation, the orchestra played "Die Wacht am Rhein" and the "Star Spangled Banner."

Announcing

An Important Change in Our Store Policy

Effective Tuesday, October 31st

The use of comparative prices will be discontinued in all of our advertisements. Stix, Baer & Fuller Dry Goods Co.

Comparative price quotations have a tendency of breeding exaggeration. No matter how vigilant one may be—no matter what caution one may exercise—no matter how severely one may censor the reports concerning the merchandise, misstatements are likely to occur. They may be due merely to the overenthusiasm on the part of one individual, or to an honest error of judgment on the part of another, but the results are the same.

The adoption of this policy in our advertising is also due to the abnormal conditions existing to-day because of the European war, which has resulted in price fluctuations so frequent and so great that it is difficult for merchants to determine the exact market value of merchandise.

We have always zealously guarded our reputation for reliable honest merchandising, and have attempted to avoid any method of storekeeping which could in the least degree be subject to criticism. We regard the integrity of our printed or spoken word as too sacred to be clouded by the slightest doubt.

There will be no change in our policy of offering special bargains. Our sale features will continue to be saving attractions of first magnitude. When fortunate trade deals permit, we shall offer our customers the full benefit of them, but in no case will we quote comparative values.

Our plain statement that the merchandise offered is an exceptional value at the price, will, in our opinion, have sufficient weight.

This forward step is the result of an evolution that is creating a better understanding and a spirit of greater confidence between the merchant and the public.

I have told young mothers as well as older ones about your remedies, and what they have done for me. I think Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved my life, as my health was very bad when I wrote you, but now I can do my own work and have not had a sick day since I began taking your remedies. HOY SING'S LAUNDRY ROBBED WHILE HE'S AT SUNDAY SCHOOL

Woman at Windermere Hotel Misses Jewelry After Finding Stranger in Her Room.

Burglars broke into the Chinese laundry of Hoy Sing, 370 Kennedy avenue, while he was attending Sunday school yesterday, and stole $15.

When Mrs. Viola Harris entered her room at the Windermere Hotel, Clara avenue and Delmar boulevard, yesterday afternoon, she encountered a well-dressed man. He said that he was looking for "Mr. Frank" and bowed his way out. Mrs. Harris later missed jewelry valued at $100.

Mrs. Ernest H. Kisker of 5248 North Market street heard someone scratching matches in the kitchen last night. She went to investigate and saw a burglar jump out of a window.

Burglars chopped open a barrel of apples in the store of the George H. Zollmann Produce Co., 323 North Third street, last night, and helped themselves to the fruit. They took 30 cents from the cash drawer.

Jewelry valued at $100 was stolen from the home of Robert Berghoff, 4030 A. S. Louis avenue, and Richard Hirschfeld, 4340 Wabasha avenue, while the families were absent last night.

INCENDIARY BLAZE DISCOVERED

Fire Starts After Unwelcome Visit of Two Men.

Ten minutes after two men at 2 o'clock Sunday morning demanded admission at the street door leading to the apartment of Meyer Berman over his grocery at 5900 Garfield avenue and were warned away by Mrs. Berman on threat of arrest, Max Schreiber of 5613 Garfield avenue, saw smoke coming from the rear of the Berman store. He found oil-soaked rags burning at the back door and the fire was just beginning to take hold of the woodwork.

He and Berman extinguished the blaze. In reporting the incident to the police, Berman said he thought the two men who knocked on his door might have done it for revenge.

"ARKANSAS ON WHEELS" VIEWED

Local Crowds Inspect Commercial and Agricultural Products. Large crowds greeted the 11-car exhibition of "Arkansas on Wheels" which

The stop-over here was the last on a journey which began Oct. 17 through the Southern, Eastern and Middle East-

LABORING CLASS OF PARIS GIVES FREELY TO SECOND WAR LOAN

Many Tellers Run Out of Certificates and Are Obligated to Improve Receipts.

PARIS, Oct. 30.—The closing day for subscriptions to the second war loan, notwithstanding extremely unfavorable weather conditions, brought out such numbers of subscribers in Paris, particularly in quarters occupied by the laboring class, that many loan tellers at the postoffices and private institutions receiving subscriptions ran out of certificates and were obliged to resort to improvised receipts for the money offered.

No estimates of the total subscriptions will be possible for several days. The only indications of the result are found in the largely increased receipts of gold at the Bank of France and in the greater number of individual subscriptions received at the bank and other institutions, as compared with the first loan. The Bank of France received $2,000,000 francs in gold during the three weeks ended Oct. 28, as against average receipts of $5,000,000 francs a week.

COL. HARVEY SAYS HUGHES IS SURE OF 269 ELECTORS

This Is Three More Than Are Needed—Editor Gives President 149 Certain Votes.

50 IN DOUBTFUL LIST

Republicans Point Out That His Forecasts Hitherto Have Been Generally Accurate.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Four years ago
Col. George Harvey guessed wrong as to only one state in his election forecast.
In 1908 he was only 17 electoral votes out of the way, and in 1904 only 22.

In April of the present year, before any state and indicated a preference for the nominee, he closed an analysis of the political situation, under the heading "Nobody for Hughes but the People," with the positive prediction that "rightly or wrongly, wisely or not, the will of the people will prevail and Charles Evans Hughes will be the next Republican candidate for President of the United States. In the North American Review published today Col. Harvey predicts the election of Hughes as certain. It details as follows:

"Electoral votes essential to a choice, 269.

"We predict that Mr. Hughes will carry these states: California, 13; Connecticut, 7; Idaho, 4; Illinois, 29; Iowa,
13; Kansas, 10; Maine, 7; Massachusetts, 13; Michigan, 15; Minnesota, 13; New Hampshire, 4; New Jersey, 14; New Mexico, 8; New York, 46; North Dakota,
8; Oregon, 5; Pennsylvania, 33; Rhode Island, 4; South Dakota, 8; Utah, 4;
Vermont, 4; Washington, 7; Wyoming,
8. Total, 269.

"We expect that Mr. Hughes will carry these: Indiana, 15; Wisconsin, 13;
total, 28.

"We believe that Mr. Hughes will carry these: Delaware, 3; Ohio, 24;
Maryland, 8; total, 35.

"We allot to Mr. Wilson beyond question: Alabama, 12; Arkansas, 9; Florida,
6; Georgia, 14; Virginia, 12; Kentucky,
12; Louisiana, 10; Mississippi, 10; North Carolina, 12; Oklahoma, 10; South Carolina, 9; Tennessee, 12; Texas, 20; total, 148.

"We regard as doubtful: Arizona, 3;
Colorado, 6; Missouri, 13; Montana, 4;
Nebraska, 8; Nevada, 3; West Virginia,
8; total, 50.

"Grand totals: Hughes, 532; Wilson, 148; doubtful, 50.

"Hughes surely wins. Probable majority for Hughes between 145 and 175."

Hitchcock Says Hughes Will Win by 43, Possibly 120 Electoral Votes.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Frank H. Hitchcock, former chairman of the Republican National Committee and a member of the Advisory Committee of the present campaign, predicts the election of Hughes, basing his conclusions on reports received from political leaders in each one of the States concerned in his statement, as follows:

"Hughes will carry the following States, having an aggregate electoral vote of 268, or 43 in excess of the required 225: Maine, 6; New Hampshire,
4; Vermont, 4; Massachusetts, 13; Rhode Island, 4; Connecticut, 7; New York, 46;
New Jersey, 14; Pennsylvania, 33; Delaware, 3; West Virginia, 8; Indiana, 15;
Illinois, 29; Michigan, 15; Wisconsin, 13;
Minnesota, 13; Iowa, 13; North Dakota,
8; South Dakota, 8; Kansas, 10; Wyoming, 8; Idaho, 4; Utah, 4; New Mexico,
8; Washington, 7; Oregon, 5; and California, 13.

"He will probably carry also Ohio, 24;
Nebraska, 8, and Colorado, 6, making his total 344, or a majority of 80.

"He has a good prospect of carrying,
in addition, certain so-called doubtful States, with an aggregate vote of 49, as follows: Maryland, 8; Kentucky, 13;
Missouri, 13; Montana, 4; Nevada, 3, and Arizona, 3.

"This would give him a total vote of 393, or a majority of 128."

Consider it carefully, view it from any standpoint; analyze it; reason it out, and you will reach the inevitable conclusion that Mis-

Has He Kept Us Out of War?

"HE KEPT us out of war"
is offered by the Democratic Party as a statement of a supreme accomplishment. That slogan is false. To accept it without thought or reason is dangerous to the life of the nation.

For months we have been conducting a border war with Mexico.
At Vera Cruz we demanded that our flag be saluted. The demand was refused. We landed troops; a battle followed. We withdrew without the salute, bringing nineteen of our dead with us and leaving our honor behind; and to this day the salute demanded has not been fired.

The weakness of Mexico, not the strength of the United States, is all that has prevented our act of war from being turned into the serious fact of war.

If the slaughter of American citizens—men, women and children—by armed troops, if the killing of American soldiers by the soldiers of another nation, if the sacking of our towns is not war, what is it?

The Judge Advocate General of our army says it is war. The Mexicans say it is war. Wilson's acts show it is war, but Wilson's voice says it is peace.

The Truth is that it is more than war. It is war without honor and murder without reparation. It is a condition that makes every true citizen ashamed of the spectacle we have become in the eyes of other nations.

Wilson's course vitalized civil war in Mexico and border war with us.
The vacillating and irresolute policy of the present administration has brought humiliation upon this country, both at home and abroad.

We have been at war; we are now at war; many lives have been lost;
our honor has been besmirched, and yet the Democratic Party cries to the nation "He kept us out of war,"
"He has protected me and mine."
The fact is that he has neglected our greatest treasures—the lives of our citizens and the honor of our country.

It is the world war in Europe, not the acts of the Wilson administration, which has kept us out of international complications that would have sorely tried our courage, and our strength.

Just prior to the outbreak of the war there was forming a combination of European nations to demand of us that we stop the disorder in Mexico, to demand protection of the lives and vast property of European citizens in Mexico, to declare that these European nations would give protection by force of arms if we did not.

What would that have meant?
It would have meant that we must adopt a determined policy to enforce order in Mexico, which was the only duty consistent with the stewardship which we assumed under the Monroe Doctrine; or it would have meant war or the surrender of the Monroe Doctrine.

It was the accident of war in Europe which then prevented retribution for the policies of the administration in Mexico.

When the war is over those nations will again press their claims and we will face the consequences of the Wilson policy of watchful waiting.

Have we sunk so low that we can approve such a policy? Have we become so morally flabby that we will tolerate its continuance?

This administration has created war. It has created causes for future serious international friction.

Notes and words and shades of meaning born of rhetoric rather than straightforward patriotic sincerity, have marked the course of our relations with foreign nations.

Force of character, a fair and honorable course, would have closed the debate which facility of language kept open. Force of character would have stopped murder on the high sea.

Does the low estate into which we have fallen among nations make a foundation upon which to build prestige for this country or safety and moral stamina for our children?

It is our tradition to honorably

GERMAN-AMERICAN APPEAL FOR HUGHES

Missouri Alliance Urges Members to Vote National Republican Ticket.

The Executive Board of the Missouri Alliance of the German-American National Alliance yesterday afternoon adopted resolutions endorsing the Republican national ticket and opposing State-wide prohibition. The board met in St. Louis' Turner Hall, 1507 Chouteau avenue. No action was taken on candidates for State or city offices.

The resolution endorsing Hughes and Fairbanks follows:
"After comparing the public records of Woodrow Wilson with the records of Charles E. Hughes we have come to the conclusion that all loyal American citizens who have the entire interests of the United States at heart should unreservedly vote for Charles E. Hughes for President and Charles W. Fairbanks for Vice President, since Mr. Hughes stands for the full protection of United States mails and commerce on the high seas.

"He is absolutely opposed to the blacklisting of American firms by any foreign nation.

"He stands for an America which has no covert intrigues or secret understandings with any other nation; for an America which stands absolutely four-square toward all nations firm and prepared, intent on peace and democracy that its just rights be recognized as to lives, property and commerce.

"He stands for the opportunity to restore the American citizen to the respected and honored position he once occupied in the eyes of the entire world.

"It is the duty of all loyal American citizens to defeat and vote against Woodrow Wilson, since he has permitted the seizure and rifling of American mails and the stealing of the trade secrets by Great Britain.

"He has permitted the unlawful interference with Red Cross supplies and charities destined to the central Powers and Ireland.

"He has permitted England to force American shippers to pay tolls for passing through the Panama Canal, built by Americans with American money.

"He has failed to protect the lives of American citizens in Mexico.

"He has permitted the free use of all the cables to England and has censored the only wireless to Germany.

"He has branded in his official message and otherwise as 'disloyal citizens' all Americans of Irish, German or other ancestry who have dared to exercise the right of a free-born citizen by questioning his official acts."

The following were present at the meeting: Dr. Charles H. Weinsberg, St. Louis, president; Fred Lorenz, St. Joseph, secretary; F. W. Keck of St. Louis, Gottfried King of Kansas City; W. H. Kueter of St. Joseph; Charles Botz of Sedalia, Dr. J. H. Lohmeyer of Springfield, William Drawe of Joplin, vice presidents; John Gewinner Jr., St. Louis, treasurer; George Withum, St. Louis; Charles Kook, president City Alliance, Sedalia; Judge Charles F. Gullenkamp, president City Alliance, Union, Mo.; William Prigel, Yale Station; Fred Speckelmeyer, Washington.

UNION ATTACK ON BOY SCOUTS

Massachusetts Branch Wants All
Workmen to Withdraw Sons.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 30.—Just received from the country are asked to withdraw their sons from Boy Scout organizations in a resolution adopted by the State branch, American Federation of Labor, last night. The action resulted from a report that Charles C. Jackson, president of the Greater Boston Council of Boy Scouts, had advised scout masters to prepare the boys under them "to withstand politically the aggressiveness of labor unions" which he said to have predicted would be "savage and bitter" after the war.

"If this is to be the attitude of the Boy Scout movement," the resolution said, "it is time that the wage earners of the country should take their sons out of that movement."

PENNSYLVANIA U. OBTAINS NOTED SUMERIAN SCHOLAR

He Comes to U. S. for Year Because War Has Taken Away His Students at Oxford.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—Dr. Stephen Langdon of Oxford University, noted Sumerian scholar, has been appointed curator of the Babylonian section of the University of Pennsylvania, where he will catalogue and attempt to decipher the thousands of Sumerian and Babylonian tablets.

He has deciphered a letter written in clay 2200 years before Christ. The letter was written by a master to his slave in archaic Sumerian characters and rebuked the slave for stupidity in getting the worst of a deal in the flour market. An "exercise book" of a boy who attended a preparatory school near the Temple of Nippur also has been deciphered. The "exercises" were apparently a part of the boy's course in spelling, and show that youngsters were taught to spell before the syllable system.

Dr. Langdon's appointment, which is for one year, was made possible because the war depleted his department of students at Oxford.

The Gasoline Story!

Gravity Theory Exploded

The Standard Oil Company of Indiana renders you service of inestimable value. It delivers to you a motor fuel in Red Crown Gasoline that is uniform at all times—no matter whether it is distilled from heavy or light crude.

So that you may enjoy your car month in and month out, the Standard Oil Company must, to supply you with gasoline, work with many and varied qualities of crude, different sections of the country yielding a different quality.

Just suppose you should receive gasoline that would vary as do the various crude. You could never know whether you would arrive at your destination or not.

Your carburetor would give you an endless amount of trouble. You'd be compelled to readjust it every time you filled your tank.

The Standard Oil Company is able to cope with Mother Necessity in delivering to you a uniform gasoline, no matter what they are forced to work with—because it has gathered together the best petroleum chemists in the world.

This corps of trained men discovered long ago that the secret of an efficient motor fuel lies absolutely and solely in the adjustment of its range and boiling points.

Gravity has absolutely nothing to do with measuring the efficiency of motor fuel.

Red Crown Gasoline is not an elementary chemical compound.

Red Crown Gasoline is a mechanical mixture of a large number of such compounds, each one having a different boiling point.

Red Crown Gasoline is composed of fractions having low, intermediate, and high boiling points presenting a continuous chain beginning at about 90 degrees Fahrenheit and ending around 400 degrees Fahrenheit, with no gaps, each one vaporizing at a different temperature.

Red Crown Gasoline, 14.9c Per Gallon

No Need to Pay 16c, 18c or 19c for Gasoline That Is No Better

Red Crown contains the correct number of low boiling point fractions to insure easy starting when the engine is cold. Too many low boiling points cause, in addition to starting troubles, undue evaporation in storage.

Red Crown Gasoline contains the correct number of intermediate, or higher, boiling points to insure smooth acceleration.

It contains the correct number of high boiling points to insure a maximum of power. Too many high boiling points cause carbon in the cylinders and on the spark plugs.

Red Crown vaporizes to the last drop and leaves a minimum of carbon deposit.

Every batch of Red Crown is inspected by experts as to boiling points. The Standard Oil Co. guarantees every batch to contain the same continuous chain of boiling point fractions no matter where you buy it.

Red Crown Gasoline is the perfect efficiency motor fuel. In a test run it gave 28.9 miles per gallon on boulevards—accelerated in high gear from 5 to 25 miles per hour in 11 4-5 seconds—developed a speed of 58 miles an hour on country roads,

Red Crown Gasoline gives more power, more speed, more miles per gallon; hence it is the most economical.

Red Crown Gasoline burns with a quick, snappy explosion. When you need a quick burst of speed to avoid an accident you can get it if Red Crown is in your tank,

RILEY IDYL PRETTY, BUT HARDLY A PLAY

Doc Sifers and Town Marshal Effective; Raggedy Man Has Been Denatured.

By CARLOS F. MURD.
Dramatizing James Whitcomb Riley is like preserving the flavor of a ripe watermelon. Probably it can't be done; certainly it hasn't yet been done. About the nearest one can get to it is to slice off sections of the rind and put them up in plenty of sugar.

Something of this sort has been done by Robert McLaughlin, in getting up the stage production entitled "An Old Sweetheart of Mine," which was presented at the Shubert-Garrick Theater last night by a meritorious group of players. He has introduced some characters from the Riley verses in most pleasing fashion, but it can hardly be said that he has made a play about them.

Tet, as sure as the vine grows 'round the stump—and that is Riley—for the surest thing you know—he has made the first act a very enjoyable picture of small-town life in the Central West in the early '70s, as the program says, or the early '80s, or, barring a few points in dress, the knickerbocker-in-time of last year or this year.

Jap Miller, the town marshal, is a well-nigh perfect portrayal, and the patient medicine venter, the justice of the peace and the poetry-loving youth, who "studies law" between the covers of Tennyson and Poe, are engaging figures. A vagabond, also a lover of poetry, is equally pleasing, until it is realized that he is intended to represent the Raggedy Man. When the girl introduced as Orphan Annie appears, and the working out of a four-act play is essayed, the difficulty of the task begins to be manifest.

Orphan Annie and Raggedy Man, as they live in Riley's verse, are glimpses of happy personalities, not burdened with mental endowments. They do not fit into a connected story, and to make them do so the present playwright had to denature them. Annie, a waif and a public charge, is made a sort of Pollyanna, but with a habit of running away, which she seems to have inherited. The Raggedy Man is made a runaway father, whose excuse for having deserted his infant daughter years before was that he loved her dead mother so much. Guess who the daughter is.

It is equally easy to guess the rest of the plot, which is built on the concurrent love affairs of the young poet and Orphan Annie and another pair. This is worked out with no particular artifice, the principal scene being a meeting between the young folks at the Old Swimming Hole, which might seem not to be the most appropriate place, but which just had to be shown.

The later acts depend chiefly on the figure of Doc Sifers. Here is a Riley character which tends itself admirably to stage presentation. There is a hearty laugh in his homely remark to a young man of high self-esteem, "You oughta seen the commotion at your house the night you was born." Jeff Thompson, rich and snooty, does not "belong." He is more like an English country squire than a Riley Hoosier. Liberal extracts of Riley verse are used in the dialogue, somewhat after the fashion in which Omar Khayyam's quatrains are used in "Omar, the Tent-maker."

Frederick Barton as Doc Sifers and Eugene Keith as Jap Miller are the most happily cast of the actors. Richard Barbee is an attractive young poet, in a role which stands for that of the youthful Riley. Agnes Findlay appears as Annie and Marion Cockerley as the rich Jeff Thompson's daughter, while Orrin Johnson is the Raggedy Man. There are two child actors.

POLICE RAID TYPO-PRESS CLUB, ARREST BARTENDER

Negro Who Was Seen Leaving Place With Bottled Beer Admits He Was Not a Member.

The Typo-Press Club, in the rear of 712 Pine street, owned by Charles (Cap) Trol, Republican ward politician, the scene of the murder of Harry (Cherries) Dunn, a pickpocket, a month ago, was raided by the police at 5:30 last evening. James F. Miller, a negro, living at 449 Cottage avenue, who admitted that he had no membership in the club, was seen leaving the place with a basket containing bottled beer which he said he had purchased at the club.

When policemen entered the place they saw 10 men, some at tables and others at the bar. Joseph Royce, a bartender, 42 years old, of 203 North Thirtieth street, was in charge. He was arrested on a charge of selling liquor without a dramshop license. Edward Ritter, a saloon keeper, living at 1702 Wash street, which is next door to his saloon, was arrested yesterday afternoon when policemen saw Fred Swannick, 1700A Wash street, leaving the Ritter home with three bottles of beer and a half pint of whisky. Swannick said he purchased the liquor Saturday night and left it at Ritter's home.

GOMPERS SAYS PERKINS ASK HIM TO REVISE T. R. SPEECH

Labor Federation President Says Address Was for "Bombastic Purposes" to Deliver in Kansas City.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Samuel Gompers, in a address to labor leaders yesterday, replied to Roosevelt's charge that President Wilson, on the eight-hour law, was playing second fiddle to Gompers. The federation president said:

"Why should Col. Bombastic Furioso hit at the President through me? Why, I hold the proof in my hands that, only a few months ago, I got a message from George W. Perkins to run down to Oyster Bay and pass on the speech that the Colonel was to deliver in Kansas City. When I declined, he sent a messenger with a copy of the speech to me in Washington. He asked me to revise it in accordance with my ideas. The speech he sought advice upon was in the handwriting of Col. Roosevelt. That is, the corrections."

Gompers referred to Roosevelt as wanting to "clean up" Mexico. "There have been but two revolutions in Mexico in recent years," he said, "which have not been financed by Standard Oil and Wall Street."

HOLLAND'S PARLIAMENT IS PICKETED BY WOMEN

Suffragists of the Country Are Working Hard to Obtain Enfranchisement.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.
THE HAGUE, Netherlands, Oct. 15.—The session of Parliament just opened by the "First Woman" of Holland in a brilliant joint assembly of the two chambers, held in the famous Knights' Hall at The Hague, is likely to be occupied somewhat prominently with the woman's question. The Dutch women suffragists are by no means satisfied with the lukewarm proposal of the Government to remove the constitutional obstacle in the way of giving women the vote.

Taking their cue from more militant spirits abroad, they have set a daily picket of women outside the entrance to the Second Chamber, all decked out with their yellow-and-white rosettes, ribbons and mottoes. The suffragists were there, indeed, on the opening day of the session, and lined up in double row with the idea of compelling members to run the gauntlet. Many of the worthy representatives of the people ran it, but were dosed with nothing worse than propaganda leaflets.

The suffragists drew the sovereign's attention to their cause by presenting her majesty with a magnificent bouquet of lilies, dahlias and orchids, decorated with their colors.

What the women want is that the Government shall definitely embody women's suffrage in the proposed revised Constitution, but the Prime Minister, Cort van der Linden, though himself in favor of women having the vote, declines to do this, knowing that it would imperil the entire revision measure, for the country and its politicians are by no means yet ready to accord the suffrage so easily to the sex of the sovereign who rules over them. As the Roman Catholic "Tijds" remarks, therefore, "no doubt a considerable time will yet elapse before the women of Holland march to the polling booth."

BOY SETS FIRE TO CAT'S FUR

Animal Starts Several Blazes and Firemen Follow With a Hose.
CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—A small boy last night applied a match to a cat's fur and a fire engine company was called out to squirt water in the animal's erratic wake, after it had brushed against some straw packing around several acid carboys and started a blaze.

Firemen with chemical hand apparatus followed the cat's trail and put out several other small blazes.

HUGHES' CONCEPTION OF DUTIES OF PRESIDENT

Candidate Says He Would Pick Able Cabinet, Have Firm Foreign Policy, and Prepare to Meet Trade Competition After the War.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—"My Conception of the Presidency," is the caption of the following article given out here today by the Republican National Committee:

By CHARLES EVANS HUGHES.

ON the eve of election day, the American people are entitled to a summary of the things I have stood for in this campaign, as they are the things I shall stand for as President.

No man can tell in advance what unexpected demands the next four years may present, but one whose conception of the President's duty rests upon fundamental principles can describe with entire sincerity how the problems of administration would be approached and in what spirit they would be solved.

A man charged with the duty of reaching a desired goal knows that the road to it is found in following that path which sound judgment and clear vision open up step by step. I can show the road I expect to travel.

I propose first of all to start right. The President is primarily an executive. It is his supreme duty to attend to the business of the nation, to safeguard its interests, to anticipate its needs, to enforce its laws.

The first act of a President who takes this view of his duties is to call about him the ablest Cabinet the country can furnish, men who can deal with the tremendous international and domestic problems which will confront us in the next four years.

Two Views of Presidency.

MY conception of the presidency differs absolutely from that of Mr. Wilson. I look upon the President as the administrative head of the Government. He looks upon the President as primarily the political leader and lawmaker of the nation.

In the two departments of Government most closely touching our foreign relations—the Department of State and the Department of the Navy—he chose men whom he knew to be wholly unequal to their duties. Administrative obligation was subordinated to political expediency. I can assure the country that any administration under my direction will stand upon sound administrative ground with the ablest Cabinet the country can supply.

Across the road we are to travel this next four years, even though we start right and move with prudence and courage, serious hazards are thrown like breaks in a roadway made by a torrential rain. These all rise out of the war, which has overwhelmed Europe. The first has to do with our foreign relations. It is the President's first duty to safeguard the interests of our own nation and to preserve the friendship of every other nation.

No man is more determined than I to maintain the peace which the United States, Spain, Sweden, Norway and all the American republics now enjoy. But I should never permit that peace by a firm and courteous insistence on the rights of our citizens at home and abroad. An American in Mexico is subject to Mexican law, but he is an American still and is entitled to the protection of his own Government in his lawful business. For one, I shall never consent to a policy which leaves Americans helpless against the lawlessness of any country in which they have a right to do business.

Coming Labor Problem.

THERE confronts labor in the next four years a condition more serious than any that American laboring men have been called upon to face. When this war began over a million American workmen were seeking vainly for employment. When the war ends and the developed energies of a new Europe are thrown into commercial production, our nation will face a competition such as it never knew.

One of two things must happen—either millions of men will be seeking work in vain or else there must be thought out in advance the problem of commercial organization as France and England and Germany are seeking to think out the problem today. Every one of these nations is preparing to defend its own market by a protective tariff. The end of the war will end also the opportunities for labor created by the war. The millions in the trenches today will be our industrial competitors tomorrow. If we are to save our laboring men from a catastrophe we must plan a tariff protection along sound, just and economic lines. To this endeavor I pledge myself and the men who are to be my colleagues.

In this matter again I differ absolutely from the policy of the present administration. Democratic platforms have declared that the Government has no right to levy tariff duties except for income. This is the fundamental faith of the Democratic party. I pledge myself and those who stand with me to deal with the needs of laboring men the country over, whatever their trade or organization, upon the principle of giving the largest protection possible to every American workman and the largest participation possible in the prosperity of our industries, with special favors to none.

Finally, it is to be remembered that every European Government is putting itself behind its industries, organizing them, encouraging them and suggesting economies. When the commercial struggle begins anew, the industries of every European country will go into the world markets backed by the effective cooperation and intelligent oversight of their Government.

Business Supervision.

OUR national policy requires that Government maintain a strict supervision of business organization. This can be done effectively and yet leave the Government free to encourage legitimate and wholesome business enterprise. I stand for such supervision and control of business, but I demand also that business, great and small (and especially the small business), be treated fairly and justly. Only under such conditions can business pay living wages or compete with foreign manufacturers.

In this respect again the present administration holds a policy entirely opposite. It has viewed business enterprise with suspicion and has made the Government a brake to stop the wheels of legitimate industrial progress. It has treated the business men of this country as though they were suspicious characters. It has assumed that capital and labor are natural enemies. In four years it has put this country further on the verge of class war than has been accomplished in a generation before. The men who stand with me believe in the honesty of the American workingman, they believe no less in the honesty of the American business man, and they believe that the common good is to be found not in class war, but in mutual justice and fair dealing, not as between capital and labor in the abstract but as between men and men.

You know the road we have traveled this last four years. Mr. Bryan and Mr. Daniels are its monuments of executive efficiency. Our murdered and forsaken citizens in Mexico reveal a conception of American citizenship plain enough to see but a new one for American patriotism to adopt; the monument of class bitterness raised by this administration throws a sinister shadow across our political horizon; the unjust accusation against business men has left a bitter taste in our national life. If you prefer this path it is plainly marked. And the end of it is class war.

Hughes' Proposed Road. YOU ask what road I propose to travel? These are the milestones which mark it—an executive responsible to the whole nation, a Cabinet chosen from the ablest Americans, a foreign policy that stands courageously but firmly for American rights, a flag that protects the American in his lawful rights wherever his legitimate business may take him, a preparation for trade competition which shall protect all groups of American workmen, a Government oversight of business which will fearlessly eliminate abuses, but will act on the assumption that the average business man is honest, and finally a domestic policy which looks to industrial peace, and to sound and permanent prosperity based upon

JACOB E. MEEKER VOTED AGAINST ADAMSON BILL

It Was Erroneously Stated in Sunday's Post-Dispatch That He Was Absent on Roll-Call.

In the records of the candidates published in yesterday's Post-Dispatch it was erroneously stated that Congressman Jacob E. Meeker of the Tenth Missouri District, who is a candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket, was absent when the Adamson bill was voted on in the House of Representatives. It should have stated that Congressman Meeker voted against the bill. The records of the House show that Meeker was the only Missouri Congressman voting against the bill. Fifty-six Republican Congressmen voted against it and 70 Republicans voted for it. Of the Democratic members 163 voted for it and only two against it.

Let a Post-Dispatch Real Estate ad talk for you when the man with some money is looking for an investment. the development of American trade and the building up of American industries. We Americans are in one boat. You cannot strike a blow at one group without injury to all. Common justice and fair play will settle our difficulties if suspicion and bitterness are let alone. These are the principles by which I propose to be guided.

Nature Will Cure Auto-Intoxication

All this needs is a very little help. Constipation is caused by accumulated waste in the Large Intestines, which under our present mode of living, Nature cannot entirely remove without a little help. The rank poisons in this waste get into the blood circulation, too, and make us feel depressed, blue, bilious and incompetent—really sick—if allowed to go a little too far, and causing Auto-Intoxication. All the help that Nature asks, however, is internal bathing with antiseptic Warm Water, applied by the "J. B. L. Cascade." This, in a perfectly natural and rational way, cleans out all the waste and poisons and keeps the intestinal as sweet, clean and pure by occasional use as Nature demands for a perfectly healthy condition. So invariably successful has this new and improved method of Internal Bathing proved to be that over 500,000 Americans are now enthusiastically using it to cure Auto-Intoxication, ward off disease and keep them bright, vigorous and efficient. The "J. B. L. Cascade" is now being shown by Johnson-Enderle-Pauley Drug Stores in St. Louis. Mail and let us explain how simply it accomplishes these great results. PETROGRAD AND MOSCOW SAID TO NEED FOOD FOR CIVILIANS

Ministry of Interior Reported to Have Asked for Part of Military Stores for People.

PETROGRAD, Oct. 30.—Minister of the Interior Protopopoff has applied to the military authorities, according to the Reich, for permission to draw upon the military stores for food supplies for the population of Petrograd and Moscow. The Minister points out that in view of the important part played by these capitals in the conduct of the war it is essential that they shall not be allowed to suffer for want of provisions. Protopopoff has asked that the commissary inform him what supplies can be spared for the civilians. Both the Minister of Agriculture and the Minister of the Interior have proposed relief measures dealing chiefly with questions of transportation, since the resources of Russia, they declare, are ample for the needs of the army and the people.

When embarking in business your location is important. The Post-Dispatch for Rent Columns present the best list of vacancies in business property to select from.

SAYINGS OF MRS. SOLOMON

TRANSLATED BY HELEN ROWLAND

MY daughter, consider the Bachelor, how he spendeth his Sundays. For lo, upon six days of the week doth he rejoice over the Married Man, and mock at him, his comings in the morning and his goings home in the evening.

But, upon the Seventh Day, his PITY is all for himself! Behold, he awaketh in the morning thereof with a great headache, and a dark brown bitterness in the mouth.

He admonisheth himself with groans, and kicketh himself, saying: "Alas, alas, WHY am I such a fool upon Saturday night!" He turneth upon his couch and striveth mightily to sleep; but sleep will not come again.

He yawneeth greatly, and ariseth—and wisheth he HAD NOT! He shaveth savagely, and wondereth where he shall go to breakfast. He goeth forth and findeth a restaurant, and regaleth himself upon cold poached eggs, and warmed-over coffee.

He starteth boldly for a stroll—and changeth his mind. He returneth home and attempteth to read the newspaper—but findeth he cannot.

He beginneth a letter, "Dearest Mother"—and getteth no further. He bindeth his head in ice, and calleth a damsel upon the telephone. He inviteth her to go to TEA with him—and straightway regretteth it.

He openeth a book to read it, and sitteth wondering what OTHER men do on Sundays.

He beginneth to feel exceedingly SORRY for himself. He wondereth sadly if he ought not to get married!

He thinketh tenderly of the Girl-He-Might-Have-Gotten, and bitterly of the girls-who-might-have-got-HIM.

He arrayeth himself in his Glad Clothes and goeth wearily forth upon the promenade.

He sitteth in the tea room, with the chattering of damsels on his right hand, and the clashing of cymbals and ragtime on his left.

He eateth many sweet things—and straightway wisheth he had NOT. He returneth the damsel to her home and depositeth her there, with rejoicing in his heart.

He contemplateth the thought of dining alone, and is filled with pity for himself.

He contemplateth the thought of inviting company for dinner—and is filled with shuddering.

He seeketh a restaurant, and eateth much food, and drinketh a few things, and smoketh furiously.

He wondereth sadly whether he shall call upon another girl—

Or go to a cabaret and get drunk—

Or go home and SUFFER in loneliness and ennui.

He goeth home and back to bed.

And thereupon he decideth to "end it all," by Death—or MARRIAGE!

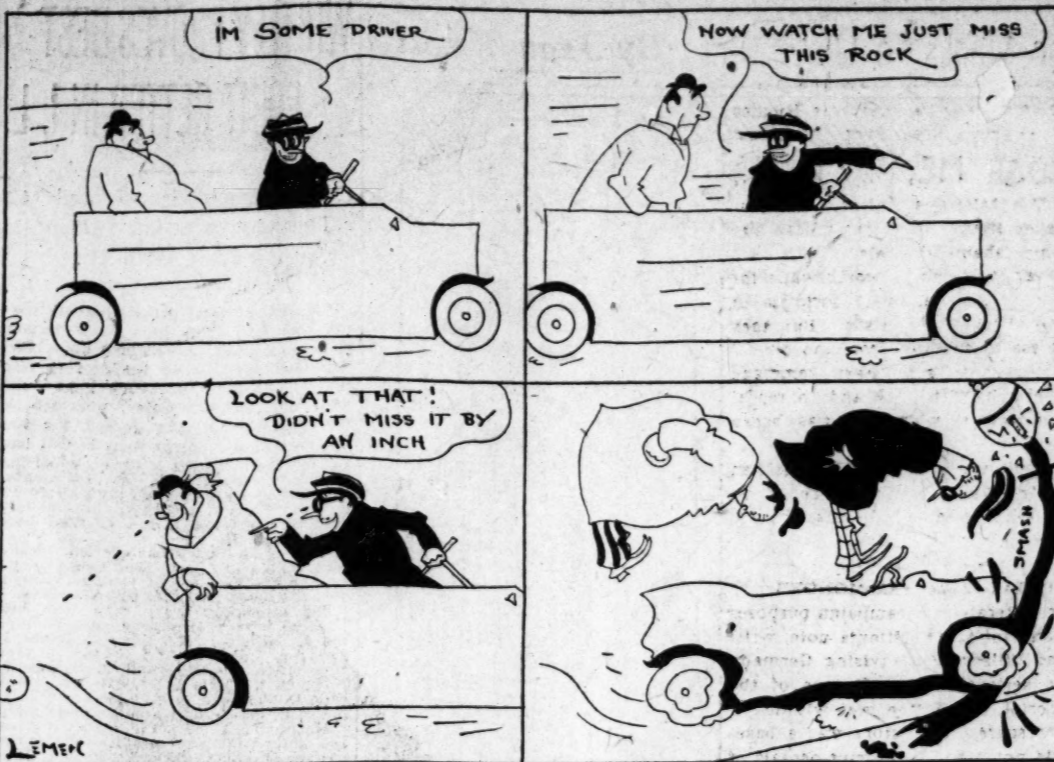

Thus endeth the Lesson of the fifty-third Sabbath.

But upon Monday morning he ariseth cheerily, and again jeereth at the Married Men, and rejoiceth in his Freedom!

Solah.

WHAT TO PUT IN BOY'S OR GIRL'S NOON LUNCH

THE capable housewife finds little difficulty in preparing attractive and nutritious meals for her family at home. Many foods, however, do not pack conveniently or are not appealing when cold. What to prepare for the child's lunch basket is often, therefore, a perplexing question.

It is essential that the food be nutritious in order to sustain properly the growing active child through the school day," says Miss Mary M. Balg, specialist in home economics in the home study service of the Kansas State Agricultural College. "As poor school work has been traced directly to the lunch box, the question of appropriate lunches for school children has been deemed worthy of special study and attention."

"The factors to be considered in planning the school lunch are the selection, preparation and packing of the food, with variety in selection one of the chief things to be considered."

Plots of Immortal Fiction Masterpieces

By Albert Payson Terhune.

A FAITHFUL RETAINER, by James Payn.

RICHARD LUSCOMBE had a weak pair of lungs and a hereditary passion for gambling. To cure him of both taints, his parents sent him at 20 on a leisurely trip through Italy and the Riviera.

He was the only son of a stolid, English Squire, and the spoiled child of his mother. It was decided that he was too young, too delicate, too prone to temptation, to travel alone. So John Maitland, the elderly and profoundly respectable butler of the Luscombe family, was to accompany him as valet and courier.

It was a pleasant and uneventful journey for a time. And Maitland wrote gratifying reports of Richard's improved health and behavior. In due time the travelers reached Monte Carlo, a place for which Richard had steadily been heading from the first and of which old Maitland had never heard. As soon as the butler realized that they had come to Europe's most notorious gambling resort he besought Richard to leave at once. But Richard was already spending every possible minute at the gaming table and he refused to stir.

Night after night the young fellow gambled. He won incessantly. Night after night he lunched back to his hotel, loaded down by fatigue and by the weight of his winnings. His rooms were full of gold pieces, which he never bothered to put in a bank for safety.

A Streak of Luck.

Old Maitland alternately raved and entreated. But all in vain. Daily Richard Luscombe grew thinner, paler, weaker and richer. The lust for gambling was gradually wearing him to a shadow.

One night Richard came to his hotel with $10,000 in gold, as the result of his night's play. This brought his total winnings to more than $25,000. Maitland again besought him to leave Monte Carlo. Richard declared he would stay until he should have broken the bank. "That will be after you've killed yourself," said Maitland.

The Prodigal's Return.

Back to England, mortally chastened and ashamed of himself, journeyed Richard Luscombe. Shamefacedly, he mounted the steps of his father's home. The door was opened to him by—John Maitland!

"You old scoundrel!" shouted Richard. "Yes, sir, humbly confessed the butler. 'I'm a thief and all that. But I did it for the best. I did indeed!'"

And Richard—the "stolen" $25,000 handed back to him—had not the heart to resent the deception that had saved him from himself.

New Recipes.

Cheese Pie—One quart milk, rennet, 2 tablespoons sugar, yolks 2 eggs, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 1/2 tablespoons butter, 1/4 cup chopped raisins, pastry shells. Heat the milk to lukewarm and add the rennet, using the amount of rennet for one quart of milk as prescribed on the package. Rennet in either liquid or tablet form (Junket) may be used. Let the milk stand in a warm place until the curd forms, then break up the curd and strain off the whey. Then to the curd add the sugar, egg yolks, nutmeg, butter and raisins and mix well together. Fill the pastry shells with the mixture and bake.

Cornpone—1 quart cornmeal, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons sugar, 4 eggs, 1 pint hot milk, 1 pint flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder. Mix and sift the cornmeal, salt and sugar together twice, then add the scalded milk and beat well together. Mix and sift the flour and baking powder together, then stir into the first mixture. Separate the eggs; mix the yolks and add to the batter, then beat briefly for five minutes. Beat the whites of the eggs until very stiff, then fold into the cornpone mixture carefully. Turn into a well-greased and long shallow tin pan and bake in a hot oven.

German Cookies—One pint honey, 1/4 pound brown sugar, 2 eggs, 1 lemon, 1/4 pound citron, chopped fine; 1 teaspoon soda, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 tablespoon cloves, 1/4 tablespoon allspice, 1/4 tablespoon nutmeg. Mix the honey and sugar together, then add the well-beaten eggs. Add the lemon juice and one-half of the rind, chopped fine, then the chopped citron. Mix and sift one cup of flour with the spices, then add to the mixture. Add enough flour to make a stiff dough, roll out and cut into fancy shapes. Place on a buttered baking sheet and bake in a hot oven.

Ginger Cookies—One cup sugar, 3/4 cup honey, 1 egg, 1 cup sour cream, 1 cup melted butter, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspoon cinnamon; flour. Cream the butter, add the sugar gradually, then the honey, beat the egg until light and add, then beat all well together. Dissolve the soda in the sour cream and add to the first mixture. Mix and sift one cup of flour with the soda, baking powder, ginger and cinnamon twice, then add to the mixture and beat well. Add enough flour to make a stiff dough. Roll out and cut into shapes and bake in a moderate oven.

Home baking for their sake—

Children practically live on bread. Morning, noon and night and between times, it's "Piece of bread and butter." Home-made bread should be your answer. Home-baking of all kinds is so much better for them; more nourishing and more healthful.

As they get older and seem to "eat you out of house and home", home-baking is the best way to have wholesome nourishing food for them at the least cost to you; for white flour is two to ten times cheaper in nutriment than other foods.

For best home-baking get Valier's Enterprise Flour. Made from finest Turkey Red Hard Wheat; most nutritious wheat grown. Milled slowly to save all its baking quality; then sifted through white silk to make its texture extra fine.

The perfect "all-purpose" flour, as fine for cake and pastry as for bread—the finest flour for all baking. Won't you prove this at our risk? Ask your grocer. Guaranteed to make more baking per sack and better baking than any ordinary flour.

Awarded 1st prizes for bread at both Indiana and Illinois State Fairs, Sept., 1914. Awarded 1st prize for best family hard wheat flour at St. Louis Agricultural Fair, October 1914.

SATURDAY'S SCHEDULE.
Nebraska vs. Ames at Lincoln.

By W. J. O'Connor.

Anticipating the toughest game his men have faced so far this season, Head Coach Earl Painter of the Billikens plans a few important changes in his lineup for next Saturday's collision with Creighton U. of Omaha. In the tentative lineup for this week-end game, Earl Flagg will be switched from quarter to left halfback, while either Wynn or Cahill will get the call at full back. Doran will go to quarter.

This shift has been provoked by the great running of Flagg in the second half of Saturday's game against William and Vashit College. After a dismal start, in which he missed an open field tackle, yielding the enemy their only touchdown, Flagg redeemed himself by some of the best open-field running seen here this season.

Flagg also has shown a weakness as a "safety man," playing entirely too "deep" on punts, and being too sure of the catch. However, Flagg has given promise of being one of the best running halfbacks the school has had in several seasons. He has more weight than Artie Thayer, but is every bit as hard as Painter did in his heyday.

Billikens Prospects Brighten.

Developments in the Billiken camp Saturday were such as to encourage the coaches. The line showed a marked improvement in its general work, while the backfield showed further evidence of being a genuine star. John showed enough to warrant further study as a patient coach. O'Donnell and Cagnone also proved up well. However, the line is still several points shy of the standard which the coaches have set for it.

In the backfield there is no disputing the fact that Manning is destined to make a name for himself. He has acquired a good "stiff" back, and is a running, fearless player. With Flagg as a running mate, the Billiken backfield promises to acquire a good fighting punch by the time the Washington game rolls around.

But the Billikens will be put to a severe test Saturday, unless the hope is all wrong. Creighton played its third game of the season Saturday and was beaten by Denver U. Wynn, who was crippled by the absence of his star back, Walker Sleeman. Previously, Creighton had defeated Nebraska Wesleyan, 14-0, and tied Dubuque College, 6-6.

Denver Has Fair Eleven.

However, by holding Denver to a 13-0 score, the Creighton team indicated its class among the secondary schools of the prairie states. Denver holds the decision over Wyoming, 10-0, and the Colorado U., 7-4.

In its game here this week, Creighton should be capable of giving the Billikens a taste of high football. The Billikens are bent on winning, as their ambitions are to keep their slate clean for the season.

As far as he has gone, moreover, Coach Painter has "loved the goods" to the satisfaction of the Billiken officials and followers. Of course, his ultimate success depends on the results of the Pikeville battle Turkey day, but unless Washington shows a marked improvement, the Billikens will go into this game at the worst an even-money bet.

Going to Destruction.

Washington's outlook for this week's game is anything but bright. The Pikers will invade Ann Arbor for a tilt with the unbeaten Michigan eleven and with no more hopes of victory than Rumania. Edmunds will put together the heaviest team he can muster, which probably means the return of Dawson, Vetsel and Shanley to the lineup. Stout will probably supplant Schwartzman, the 125-pounder, in the backfield.

This Michigan effort now looks like a massacre, but it may eventually serve a good purpose. Experience gained against such a formidable foe as the Wolverines may put a kick in the Pikeville team and make Edmunds' job easier between now and Thanksgiving day.

After all, Washington will consider the season fairly successful if it can hold its own in a game in which to this date it has won, and there is still ample time in which to build a winner for that battle, now four weeks distant.

But there will be no chance to loaf, for the Billikens are progressing at a pace that surely bodes ill for the Pikers unless they, too, spruce up. And incidentally the season should be a pretty good battle, one worth seeing, at least.

PENNY ANTE: The Guy Who Never Wants to Quit

By Jean Knott

SUTTON, 58, SURE HE CAN PULL A 'COMEBACK'

Former Billiard Champion Opposes Champion Hoppe in Title Match Tonight.

Beating back to Title Harbor at the age of 58 would not be considered a rosy outlook by most followers of sporting chances. Yet that is precisely what G. Butler Sutton, former world's billiard champion, declares he expects to accomplish, during his three nights' play against Champion Willie Hoppe, who is only 30 years old.

Sutton came here from Chicago yesterday to talk over with Referee Charley Peterson the rules governing his title match. Speaking of his chances, he said:

"I am in better physical condition than formerly and my practice has been encouraging. I ran out 50 points in two shots just before leaving Chicago, one of my runs being 55, the other 42. If the room conditions are right, I expect to show the best form I have displayed since 1907."

In the year to which Sutton refers he defeated Schaefer, Slosson, Hoppe and Ora Morningstar.

He also established the high run of 238, which was later supplanted by Hoppe's 308, which still stands.

Sutton Alters Method.

Sutton has been credited with favoring the headline run to the exclusion of other forms of play. But he declares this is no longer so. He states that he has perfected his play at other games and does not intend to play by continually trying for the nurse play.

Sutton has changed his style. He uses a half-inch ball instead of the smaller one, and claims to be getting improved results.

Tonight the first block of 500 points will be played. The winner shall have made 100 points in the match, will be played at Moollah Temple, Lindell boulevard and Michigan street, each night at 8 o'clock. The style of play is 15-ball billiard handicap, two games.

Each night the position of the balls on the table will be changed. The match will be resumed exactly where it left off. The approximate time for the match will be two hours, and probably more, unless one of the players goes out in a hurry.

Hoppe holds a record of 400 points in 40 minutes. Charley Peterson will referee.

TED MEREDITH AGAIN

ONLY YANKEE BEATEN

World's Champion Half-Miler Is Unable to Strike His Best Gait Abroad.

MALMO, Sweden, Oct. 30.—All the American athletes, with the exception of Ted Meredith, were returned winners in the events with the Swedes and Danes here yesterday. Meredith, the former Penny flyer, and the United States' leading middle-distance runner, was again forced to bow to J. Bolin, the Swedish star, in the 800-meter run. The Swede negotiated the distance in 1 m. 51.8.

In the 100-meter hurdle, Murray was returned the victor, with Thorson of Sweden second. Murray tied Kullerstrand of Sweden for first place in the high jump, with a meter 90 centimeters. In the 300-meter run, Ward, Simpson and Murray finished in the order named.

RAY'S COLUMN

Trifles Can Be Ponderous, Bo.

THE mountain that labored and brought forth a mouse wasn't such a piker, after all, by comparison with modern analogies. For example, that ogre of golf, the Royal and Ancients, had to go into executive session before it could be determined that a golfer, before "putting," might brush aside a worm-cast, but must pick up the worm itself, if it happened to be obstructive.

And right here today we have with us former billiard champion George Sutton, who at the age of 58 is trying to regain the 18.2 ballkine billiard championship from Willie Hoppe.

George is the boy who put the tongue in trifles. He insists that the balls to be played with be kept in sealed packages; that they be kept in a vault with the temperature maintained constantly at the temperature of the room, 70 degrees; that not the slightest draft must penetrate to the room where the players are contesting; that the cloth be of the newest and finest Simons make, even though the billiard cloth-making industry was wiped out with other industries of Belgium; that the balls be weighed to the exactness where a grain of dust resting on one of them will cause the balance to be disturbed; in short, George is a hair-splitter.

Willie Hoppe likes the same conditions to prevail; but somehow it is always the other fellow who is heckling the promoters of matches about the trifles.

Conditions Fail to Stop Hoppe.

THE necessity of caution to such a minute degree really exists, no doubt; but it is worthy of note that Willie Hoppe, playing on all sorts of tables, from Connecticut to Vancouver, in towns big and little—even in mushroom cities of the Northwest—has been able to make a grand average of 50 for 50,000 points.

In one match he ran 400 points. Both performances—average and high run—exceed anything known to championship matches of more than 1500 points' duration.

George Sutton is said to have insisted that the balls be removed from a safe and placed in a vault.

Of course, you know, they couldn't be stolen, there; but

Brown Recruit, Sotheron, Wins 15 Straight Games for Portland

ALLAN SOTHERON, the right-hander who was sent to the Portland club of the Pacific Coast League by the Browns, and who will be back for another trial next spring, had his winning streak of 15 in a row broken in the last week of the campaign. The Prisco club won him 10-4, rapping him for 13 safeties. Sotheron was opposed by Erickson, another right-hander, who was with the Tigers for a short time last spring.

Sotheron's record of 15 straight wins in the Coast League marked 16 set by Pete Browning, a few years ago when was with Erie.

Brief Has 30 Homers.

Bunny Brief, the former Brown and White Sox first sacker, has tied Ping Bodie's Coast League home-run record. In a game with Oakland the other day, Brief rapped out two circuit drives against Boyd and raised his total to 30, which tied Bodie's mark. At the time Brief turned this trick he still had four games in which to force ahead of the former record holder.

The former Brownsie is playing with the Lake.

Although many rumors are going the rounds that George Toveas will sell his Kansas City club of the American Association, the owner in a letter to the Kansas City Star denied this and stated that he would stick to baseball until he gave the fans of that city a pennant. In his letter he also said that he was at present negotiating with one of the big league managers in the meantime to take hold of the Blues next year.

Christy Mathewson, the former Giant pitcher and now manager of the Cincinnati Reds, predicts a bright future for McGraw's club. "I have seen many ball clubs in my career," he said, "but McGraw's is the best I have ever seen. They are a team, and they are going to win."

Two more matches are scheduled for the opening of the season tonight. They are the Yankees vs. the Red Sox at New York, and the Giants vs. the Dodgers at New York.

Yankees and Red Sox are scheduled to play at New York, and the Giants and Dodgers are scheduled to play at New York.

MUNICIPAL FOOTBALL CHAMPIONS DEFEATED

St. Louis Suburbs, 1915 Soccer Title Owners, Beaten by Wagners.

The fifth season of the Municipal Soccer Association was opened yesterday, with eight games, six of them in Fairground and two in Carondelet Park. The contests were witnessed by several thousand fans, but only a few of them were closely contested, the others being decided by top-heavy scores. The closest battles were staged in Carondelet and Fairground No. 2.

One of the surprises of the first round was the defeat of the St. Louis Suburbs, last year the Missouri champions, by the Wagners, who had won the championship of the Fairground No. 2. The better teamwork of the Wagners enabled them to trim the Suburbs, who have not rounded into their best form. In the other clash in the Municipal Athletic Club trimmed the Manewals.

Wagners' Start Right.

The Wawer A. C. the new eleven at Carondelet Park, started with a victory, trimming the Kohlmanns, 1-0. The only score of the game came in the second half, when "Sunny" Fink headed through a corner kick from O'Connor.

The Kohlmanns threatened several times, but the Wagners' defense was too strong for them. The Kohlmanns, who had won the championship of the Fairground No. 2, were defeated by the Wagners, 1-0.

WHITLEY PROVES BEST POINT-GETTER IN I. L.

Central Star Has Scored 12 Touchdowns So Far; O'Connor Next With 10.

During the interscholastic football season, this fall, there have been certain players on every team whom have been depended upon to do the scoring and the hope has been that they have done their duty. Gill Whitley, quarterback for Central, has the record for the number of touchdowns scored. Gill has carried the ball over 12 times, while his closest competitor is his teammate, O'Connor, who is credited with 10 touchdowns. Whitley, although the smallest man on the team, is one of their best ground game.

Reed of McKinley has carried the pig skin behind the posts nine times, while Lottier another one of Coach Crosby's men has performed this feat six times. The other McKinley men who are credited with touchdowns are: Thompson, 3; Selbert, 1; Needham, 2; Ronald, 1; Davis, 2; Sparks and Grant, each 1. The men at Central are: Whitley 12; O'Connor 10; Kernhaw, 4; Brigham 3; Weidman, 1; Vestman gives the following men credit for touchdowns: Owens 1, Hauseladen 1, O'Connor 1. The players at Cleveland are: Lippert 3, Cole 2, Kinsey 1.

Central Well Represented.

The Central High School football team, besides representing the oldest high school in the city, has the honor of having one of its former members on every other high school football team. Central's players are not only good players, but they are also good students. There is Overstreet, who plays center for Solway, Zacharias, who plays left halfback, and Selbert, who plays right halfback. Central's fast team from quarterback, these men are all top-notchers in their positions.

Deeds' Nose Broken.

"Big Bill" Deeds, McKinley's star tackle, broke his nose in Saturday's game with Cleveland and will have to be a little more careful during the coming week, as he intends to have it doctored up so that he will be able to play against Solway next Saturday. Deeds resumed his position for the rest of the game.

Newman Is Solder's Star.

Pat Newman, who is given credit for 13 of Solder's 13 points, was called upon to carry the ball more than any other man on the team during his game with Yarnham Saturday. Given the advantage of his position at fullback, Newman has been a hard worker and has done more damage than any other player on the team. Newman is a top-notch player and is a real asset to the team.

The Wrong Idea.

Cleveland High School was penalized twice for tripping. The referee was disgusted to think that someone would do this to another player. The referee was disgusted to think that someone would do this to another player. The referee was disgusted to think that someone would do this to another player.

SPORT SALAD

On Francis Field.

It WAS evening and the sun was low. The Pikers' work was done. When Pemberton's potential was checked in the point that won. And so we say, hurrah for Pete! More power to his noble feet.

The final score was seven-six. The Pikers in the lead; There seemed to be a dearth of tricks And very little speed around. But, everybody will agree. It was a well-earned victory.

The Miners offered no excuse. They wallowed their defeat; Bill Edmunds turned his Pikers loose And played 'em off their feet. Bill says it would have been the same If Imlay HAD been in the game.

In Again Out Again.

A TEAM from Aledo blew in. Our Billiken cohorts to skin; They were beaten so sound That they were one of the best amateur billiard players in the U. S. A.

Cornell Cracked.

A L.A.S. for the boys from Cornell! Before mighty Harvard they fell; They were favored to win, But they couldn't kick in. Which shows that you never can tell.

Conditions Unfavorable.

T HE well-known firm of William and Vashit took a flyer into our midst Saturday, but didn't do much business.

G. Butler Sutton came down from Chicago yesterday and the billiard match between Willie Hoppe and George Sutton for the 18.2 championship.

Andrew McCreery, who yesterday won the Triple A golf championship, comes by his golfing abilities honestly. His father was one of the best amateur billiard players in the U. S. A.

Alas!

T HE Pikers will journey to Ann Arbor next Saturday to play football with the Michigan U. Well, if they've made up their mind to stop 'em, guess there's no use trying to stop 'em. Seems a pity, though. All fine young fellows, with bright futures, to be put down in the flower of their youth that way.

However, the Wolverines are not as fierce as they used to be and have been taught by their coach to perform many cunning tricks.

Michigan has a nice little team. Their backfield is strong, their outfield is fast, by fast and their coach is a Yost in himself.

Ted Meredith was again beaten in the 800-meter run in Sweden by J. Bolin. Ted's meter wasn't running slow.

The De Soto ball team walloped Herndon yesterday and thereby clinched the championship of that section of the State. Nothing left to be settled now but the presidency of the United States.

So far this season the football players have been favored with some of the finest baseball weather we've had in years.

As we go to press Fiedler Jones is still at his home in Portland, Ore., standing pat.

A Cinch.

"Sky" Britton says he will never charge more than double for world's series seats.

Nether will John D. Rockefeller raise the price on spring onions.

Beat Him to It.

George Sutton has had his whiskers cut off. That's one trimming Hoppe didn't give him.

Would that the National League had a few more sports like the "Skipper." There'd be more sport and less commercialized vice.

Negroes Observe Rules.

It is a noteworthy fact that the negro boxers who perform at the Future City A. C. on Friday nights observe the rules and box more fairly than the majority of white boxers appearing at the same club. One reason for this is that the negro boxers are a referee, and there is less personal accorded them by the spectators. However, other reasons that enter to make their exhibitions look so fair is the fact that most of them box at long range, playing for the head and upper body, and do but little in the line of the "knock-out" game. They are disqualified for fouling by striking a low blow.

Major Leaguers Winter Here.

There are enough ballplayers in St. Louis right now who are either major leaguers or former big leaguers to make a fairly good ball club. The only thing that is lacking is a real good twirler and for this and Gene Dale, a former Cincinnati Red, could be used. The remainder of the club would have Pratt, Lavan, Holke, Hyne, Koney and Smith as pitchers. Dale, Pratt and Lavan, outfielders, and Frank Snyder of the Cardinals. Dale has decided to spend the cold months here, as catcher.

Daily Short Story

The Suffrage Meeting

By W. Karl Hilbrich.

PERCIVAL GIBBONS was the best persuader in the club. He was young, full of enthusiasm and his good nature was unflinching. But it took 15 minutes of hard work to persuade Dick Evans to go with him to the suffrage meeting. Dick was no longer young, experience had dulled his enthusiasm and "Votes for Women" did not appeal to him as a basis for rabid discourse or heated argument. He recognized it as a phase of human evolution, inevitable and irresistible, with woman as the instrument rather than the cause.

Nevertheless he went, and in a gracious spirit. He charmed his young friend by his unusual affability and in the short drive to the meeting aroused a hope that Percy might yet make of him a convert to the cause.

Arriving at the auditorium, they were about to enter the building when a hand plucked at Evans' sleeve. He turned and a whisky-laden voice rasped: "I say, sport, give us a"—then stopped.

TO Evans, who was about to repulse the beggar, it seemed that a look of recognition flashed over the sudden, dissipated features, displayed in all their stark wretchedness by the searching glare of the nitrogen lamps. For a moment he peered intently at the wreck before him. Suddenly he clasped his hand on the fellow's shoulder and with a smile that made the watching Gibbons marvel he whispered: "Tom!"

The other, whose head had dropped with apparent shame at Evans' scrutiny, raised his bleary face and nodded. Then, with emotion averted on his face, he choked out:

"Dick Evans! Dick Evans!" and turned as if to go. Dick had him by the arm in a moment and inquired of Gibbons: "Let me have your car for a short time?"

At the latter's "Sure," he piloted Tom to the car and stowed him away. Writing something on one of his cards, he gave it to the driver.

They entered the building in silence. The younger man forbore questioning and Evans was evidently not yet ready for explanations. His spontaneous gaiety of only a few moments before was gone. With a countenance which might have passed for a mask of sadness he listened to the speeches. Only once, when a handsome, gray-haired woman spoke touchingly on the duties of a mother to her family and the State, did an expression of sympathy ruffle his gloom.

It was on the way home that he began, without preamble and in a low voice to enlighten his expectant friend. "Used to know the fellow at school. I thought he was out West. His people are well to do, but he refuses to sponge on them. One of the most talented and clever boys I ever ran across. Good stuff to him, too, but spoiled in the beginning."

Percy, still under the spell of the sweet old lady's speech, interrupted. "Good mother!" Dick's exclamation was almost savage in its intensity.

"He never had a mother. He had to be satisfied with a maternal ancestor. She brought him into the world, then put the rest up to Eugene."

For a few moments Percy pondered over the meager details of the pitiful story. Then, after the manner of youth, he philosophized:

"Isn't it tragic the way things get mixed sometimes. Just think how different this man's life might have been had he been blessed with a mother like the sweet old lady who spoke tonight!"

Dick Evans laughed. It was not a happy sound. It spoke of bitterness, of heartache. And in a tone of sardonic humor he repeated:

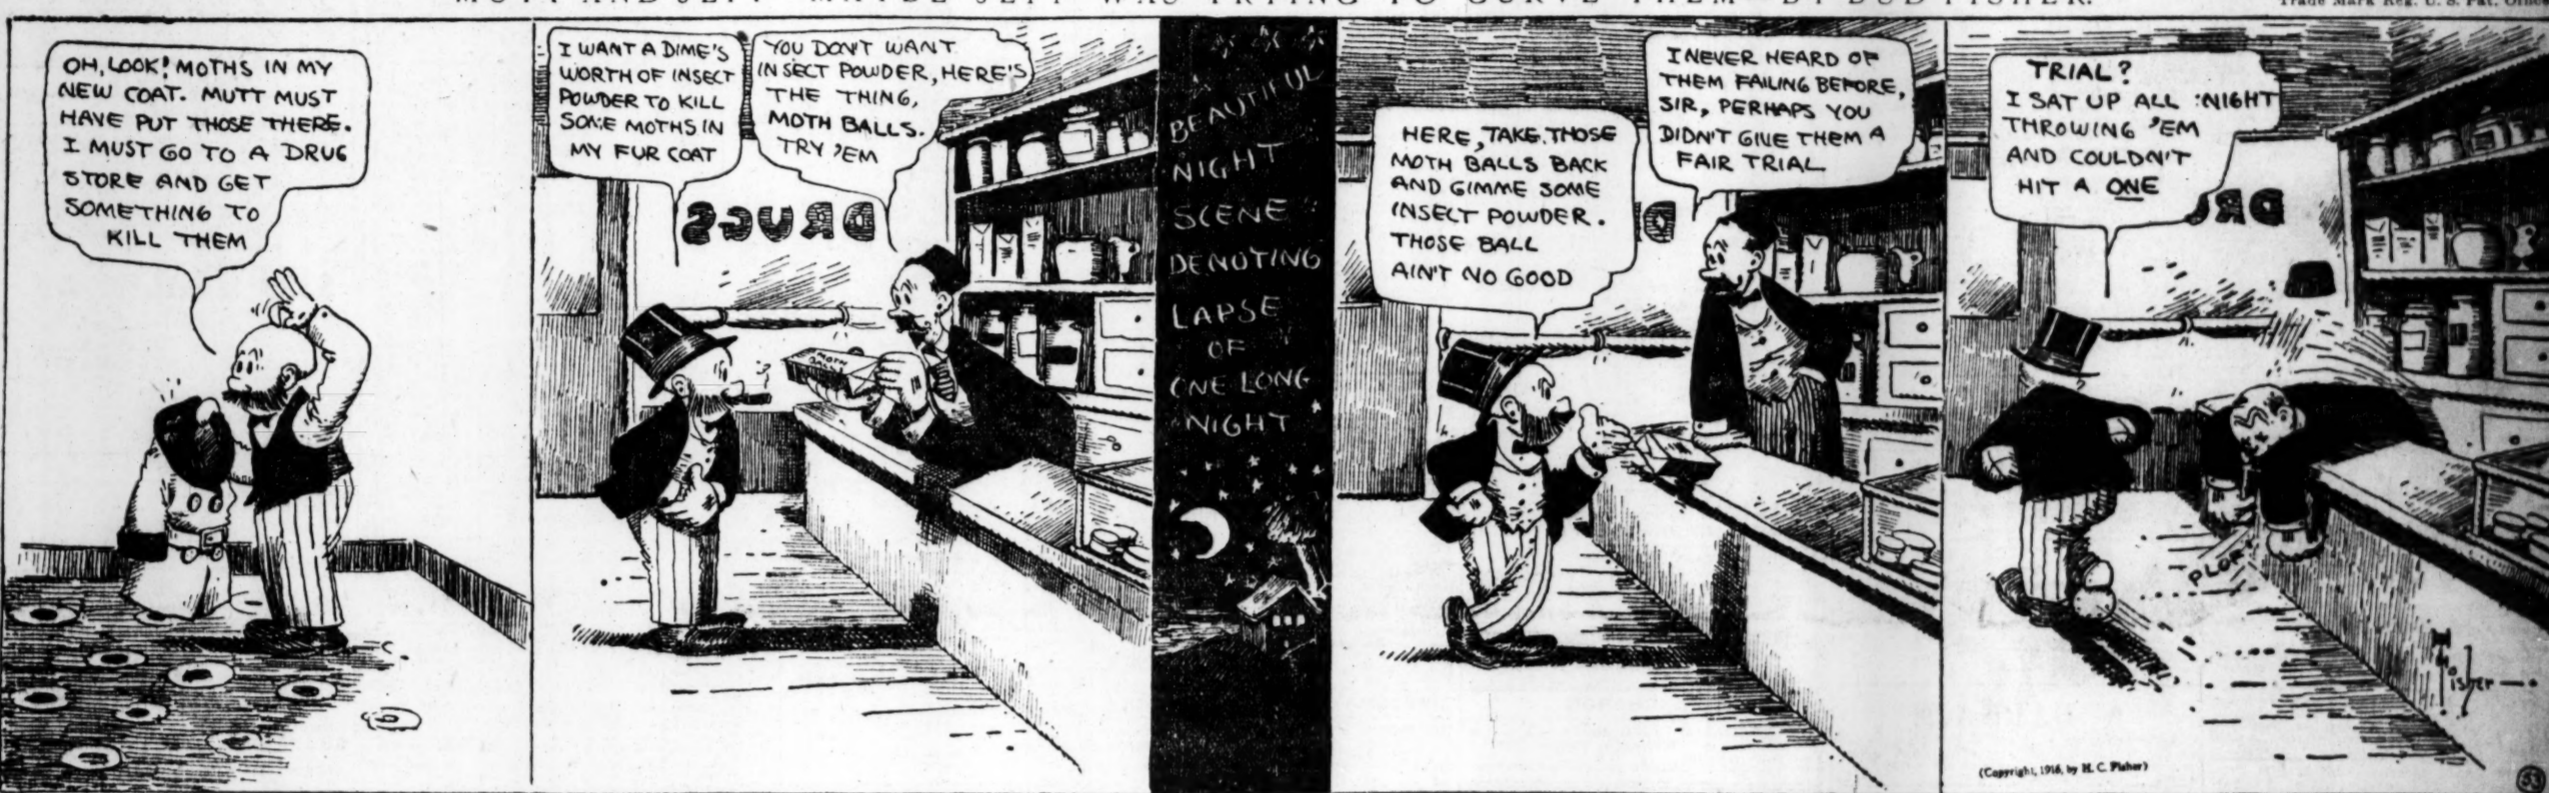

"What a difference! Oh, ye gods! A joke for Olympus!"

At the younger man's evident mystification he put his hand projectively on his shoulder, and in the plainer a doctor's tone toward a beloved patient he said:

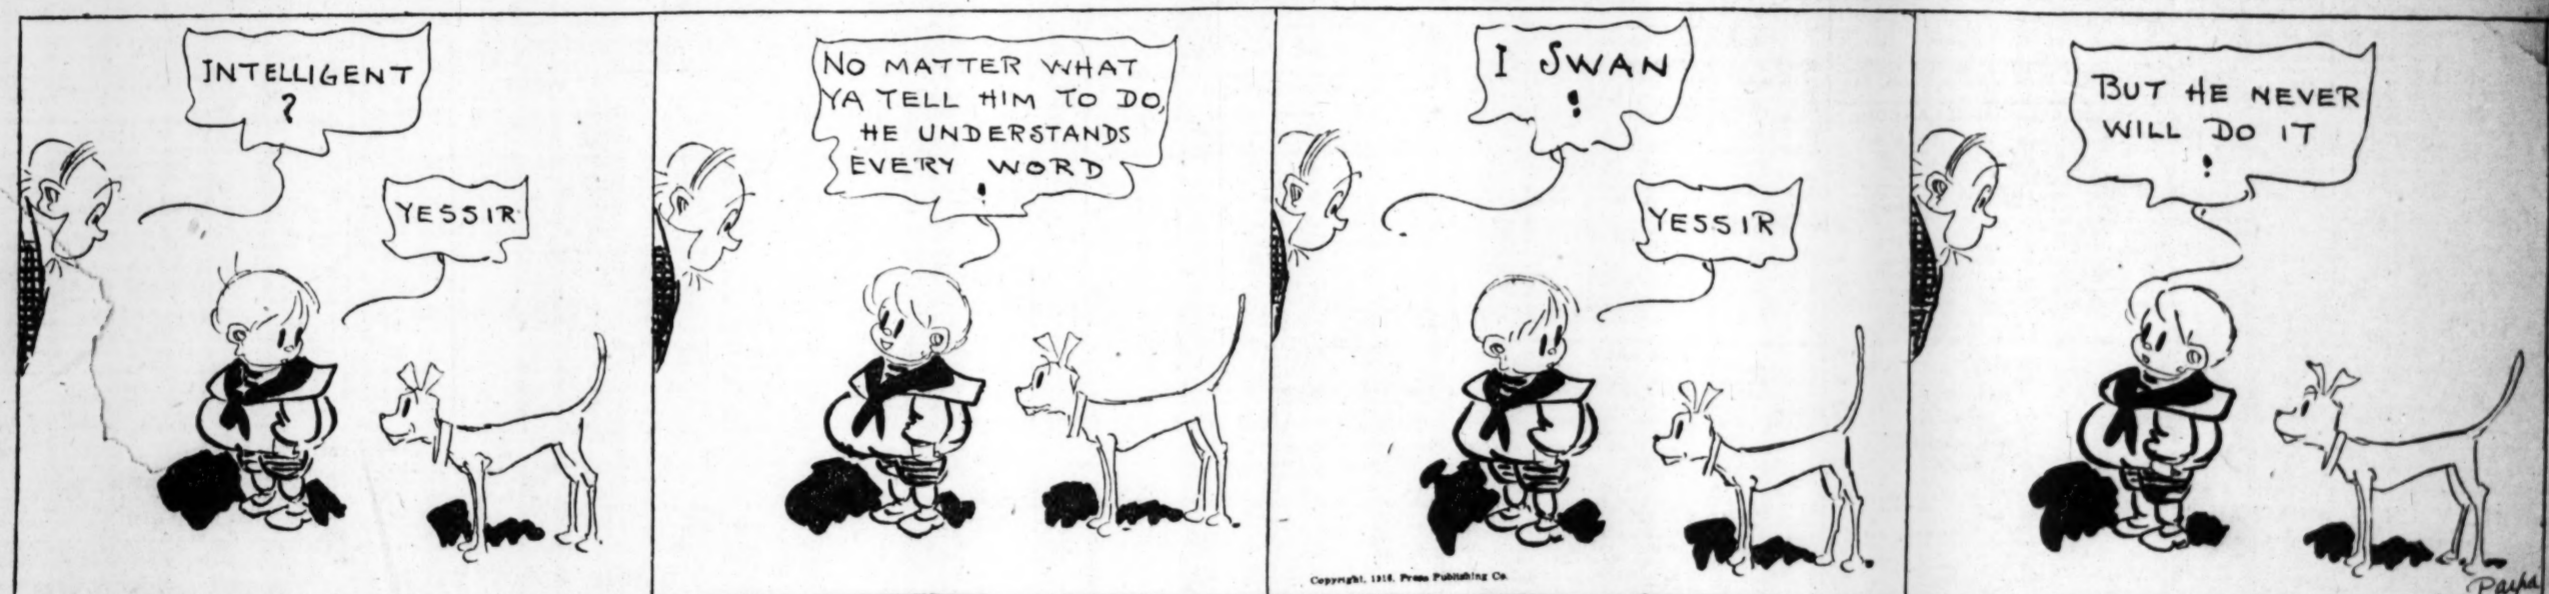

"My dear young friend, that sweet old lady is Tom's mother."

The Sandman Story
For Tonight

By MRS. F. A. WALKER.

The Wise Fool.

PART ONE

ONCE upon a time there was a little Prince who lived a very sad life. Of course he was rich and his every-day clothes were nicer than most boys have for Sunday, for they were of velvet and trimmed with gold lace. But he was not a bit happy. The trouble was, he had everything he wanted. He lay on a bed of moss watching the swans floating about on the silver water. His face was puckered into a frown as he looked at the flowers nodding by his feet. Presently down the walk ran Jane, the Court Fool. Now this does not mean that Jane was looking in with, but simply that in the days of which I write there was in every King's palace someone who dressed in a clown's garb and spent his time making fun for others. He was supposed to do funny or silly things, but often he had more sense than his masters.

As Jane ran down the path, the Prince called to him. "Come here, Fool," shouted the spoiled Prince. "I am weary of being alone, weary of this fine court and of life's round of pleasure."

changed condition to be the Prince—for he was the exact image now of the Prince—the boy rushed, and, bowing low, exclaimed: "Hasten to the palace, my Prince, for your royal father is taken suddenly sick and you must be at his bedside."

"And you, Fool," continued the page, turning to the boy who looked like the Fool but was in reality the Prince, "you run along to the kitchen and have your supper."

There was nothing else to do but obey the page. So the frightened Fool, looking like the Prince, ran up into the King's bed chamber, while the real Prince, looking like the Fool, hastened to the kitchen.

"Hurry up and eat your bread and porridge," commanded the cook in a rough voice. "I have been waiting for you an hour," and with that the man gave the Prince a blow on the cheek.

In an instant the angry boy struck back in a towering rage. The cook at this hit him again with a big iron spoon, the other servants gathering around and laughing at the sight of the Fool making a row and crying with anger.

"I will let you rascals know that I am the Prince," he shouted, "and every one of you shall land in jail!"

"A Prince, the Fool our Prince!" screamed the scullery maid, shaking with laughter. "A pretty Prince in a clown's motley dress and with the cap and bells." So all around the Prince they danced, laughing at his rage and mimicking his tears of anger.

"Now, go rest in the shed," said the cook when they grew weary of the sport.

Up in the royal chamber the poor Fool stood by the bedside of the dying King, white with fear. At last the doctor solemnly said, "The King is dead."

Then, turning to the Fool, he bent his knee before him and said, "Long live our King."

With a shudder of terror, the Fool tottered to a chair—here he was, the Fool to begin life as a King, and the real King locked in a shed by order of the cook.

The Water Cure.

A SWEDISH farmer, who lived on his wheat farm in Minnesota, was taken ill and his wife telephoned the doctor.

"If you have a thermometer," answered the physician, "take his temperature. I will be out and see him presently."

An hour or so later when the doctor drove up, the woman met him at the door.

"How is he?" asked the doctor. "Well," said she, "I bane put the barometer on him like you tell me, and it say 'Very dry,' so I give him a pitcher of water to drink, and now he bane gone back to work."
